SUMMARY.

A state of war exists between Great Britain and Germany.

The German Ambassador in Paris has been instructed to demand his passports.

France has similarly instructed M. Cambon, her Ambassador in Berlin.

The Russian Ambassador in Berlin has received his passports.

A Note was received by Belgium announcing that Germany intended to use Belgian territory for military operations.

The Belgian Minister for War said: "Belgium will not sacrifice her honour in the face of Germany's threat."

"The word therefore is 'to arms,' and Belgium will never submit," he added.

A force of 150,000 has been mobilised to defend the neutrality of Belgium.

Germany has invaded Belgium at Verviers, and a German aeroplane has bombarded Luneville.

It is stated on diplomatic authority that the German High Sea Fleet passed through the Kiel Canal, and steamed westward.

The German steamer Kronprinzessin Cecilie has returned to Maine, as her captain feared capture.

The Admiralty has taken over two battleships ordered by Turkey and two destroyers being built to the order of Chili.

The House of Commons passed all outstanding votes and Supply amounting to £100,000,000 in 10 minutes.

The proclamation mobilising the army was read from the Royal Exchange amidst great enthusiasm.

By calling up all the naval reserves the Admiralty expects to obtain 200,000 men to place the third fleet on a war footing.

A bill has been introduced in the Reichstag appropriating an extraordinary credit of £250,000,000.

The German cruiser Augsburg bombarded the naval harbour at Libau on the Baltic Sea.

There was some excitement in London, owing to a rumour that German cruisers had been seen in the Atlantic.

The Germans have entered France near Bierry.

Only small cavalry skirmishes have occurred on the eastern frontier of Germany, in which 30 Russians are reported to have been killed.

Authentic reports received in Berlin state that the Russians have crossed the borders at various points.

The Austrians attacked the Servians at Semendria, and were repulsed with heavy loss.

It is believed at Nish that Austria has abandoned her aggressive campaign against Servia, and will prepare for Russia's attack.

The Russian troops leaving for the front were drawn up all day outside the churches, and received the blessings of the clergy.

Thousands of women are replacing the men called to arms as factory workers and tram conductors.

The churches are packed with people praying for the success of the arms.

It is expected that the warlike feeling will spread to Bulgaria.

Turkey and Montenegro are now mobilising their forces.

The United States has issued a formal proclamation of neutrality.

The cruiser Tennessee sails with a million sterling to enable Americans in Europe to meet their engagements and return home.

The Prime Minister officially announced yesterday that war had broken out between Great Britain and Germany.

According to Colonel Foster, no danger to Australia or to Australian shipping is to be expected from Germany.

The outbreak of war, it is stated, is not likely to interfere with the receipt of nominations for the Senate and the House.

It is practically certain, however, that the Federal elections will be postponed.

The opposition to the election of the Prime Minister for Parramatta has been withdrawn.

The Governor-General has cancelled his visit to Newcastle owing to the outbreak of war.

With a view to establishing a mobile reserve, it has been decided to mobilise the 5th Infantry Brigade.

The 16th Infantry Battalion will furnish a reserve for the defence of Newcastle.

It is unofficially reported that the destroyer Parramatta has captured the German mail steamer Seidlitz, and is escorting her back to port.

There was a patriotic demonstration in the Legislative Council yesterday. The National Anthem was sung.

In the Assembly the Premier made an important announcement.

All controversial legislation is to be suspended, but the House will meet from day to day to take any necessary action.

Mr. Holman indicated that he would to-day move for an amendment of the Arbitration Act to deal with industrial awards.

The proposed amendment will give the Government power to regulate employment in the depression arising out of the war.

Mr. Wade has been invited by the Government to consult with it as to the necessary amendment.

Many men have been dismissed from their employment in various industries during the week owing to the depression.

The State Government is to be asked to do everything possible in the direction of providing work.

The opinion is expressed that if commodities should go beyond a reasonable price the Government should step in.

Three thousand professional unionist musicians have offered for active service in Australia.

Banking business was conducted quietly yesterday, and on quite normal lines.

At the Government Savings Bank a much better tone prevailed. The number of withdrawals was not nearly so large.

The City Council has offered to afford every facility to expedite any desires of the Commonwealth Government.

The P. and O. Company's cargo steamers Malwa and Peshawur have been requisitioned by the Imperial Government.

Every effort is to be made by the P. and O. Company to carry on the mail service.

The vessels of the Orient Company will be dispatched as usual, according to time-table.

A large crowd assembled in the Parliamentary grounds at Wellington to hear the King's message read by the Governor.

After a patriotic demonstration, both Houses met, and carried resolutions in favour of an expeditionary force.

The Governor-General has received a message from the King, expressing his appreciation of the messages from the Dominions.

A cable was also received, in which the Home Government appreciates the offer of Australia to equip an expeditionary force.

The steel works at Port Waratah are to be closed down to-day. Nine hundred men will be thrown out of work.

The Australian football carnival commenced on the Sydney Cricket Ground yesterday.

New South Wales defeated Queensland by 13 goals 15 behinds to 2 goals 4 behinds.

South Australia beat Western Australia by 11 goals 16 behinds to 12 goals 11 behinds.

In the Rugby Union match on the Sports Ground New Zealand beat Metropolitan by 13 to 6.

The afternoon shift miners were requested by Mr. J. B. Holme to resume work, but they refused to do so.

No "calls" were held at the Sydney Stock Exchange yesterday.

All markets were in an extremely disturbed condition, and prices were irregular. The tendency was still upward.

In grocery lines there was no extensive trade, but it was expected that the position would develop to-day.

There was a strong inquiry for bacon, and values were firm. Cheese sold well at late rates.

There was a steady inquiry for maize. Potatoes were unchanged at the previous day's closing prices.

Forecast.—Fine generally, except for a few showers on south-western slopes; some frosts and light variable winds.

FARMER'S, SYDNEY.

THE HOUSE OF DISTINCTION.

THE MILLINERY SALON IS TO-DAY A VISION OF SPLENDOUR. DEPICTING SPRING MILLINERY IN ITS FULL PERFECTION.

A DISPLAY UNEQUALLED IN THE SOUTHERN HEMISPHERE.

Our Millinery Salon is to-day a study of what may be achieved by an assembling of many of the World's Millinery Masterpieces.

The styles are distinctly varied—in many instances unique in appearance—ALWAYS they are charming in effect.

As seen in our Showroom, these Models are a pleasure to behold, but their charm and individuality are only realised when seen upon the wearer.

These Triumphs of Millinery Art constitute an Exposition which every lady should make an effort to inspect.

MILLINERY SHOWROOM, THIRD FLOOR, PITT-STREET.

THE MODE OF THE HANDBAG AS EXPRESSED THIS SEASON AT FARMER'S.

The Lady's Handbag has come to be looked upon as an essential part of a lady's toilet, and well-dressed women, at the commencement of a new season, now choose a Handbag with as much regard to its harmony as they would their shoes or hat.

Needless to say, this discrimination has been carefully borne in mind in the selection of Farmer's Handbag Modes for Spring, and the latest Continental effects in these goods will be found in our assortments. Notice the following samples, which are mainly carried out in Black Moire Silk:—

Like all PARLIAMENTS, ANTHONY HORDERNS' SALE must END its career of USEFULNESS, and the END of THIS GREAT SHOPPING EVENT is but TWELVE DAYS ahead, the FINISHING date having been fixed for WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 19th.

THERE IS NO OPPOSITION NOW, Mr. Wade is reported to have declared in the STATE PARLIAMENT after the PREMIER had outlined the COURSE proposed by the GOVERNMENT in the crisis; and the SCENE that followed, the newspapers state, was a MEMORABLE one.

AFTER ALL, no one can GAINSAY that the SENSATIONAL TURMOIL created in the REALMS of retaildom by ANTHONY HORDERNS' SALE has SWEPT AWAY ALL OPPOSITION. It has DIVERTED a very CONSIDERABLE portion of SYDNEY SHOPPING to the NEW PALACE EMPORIUM, and DELIGHTED many THOUSANDS of PEOPLE by the WONDERFUL SAVINGS they are ENABLED to effect. Further, the REMARKABLE SHOPPING ACTIVITY of the PAST FEW DAYS makes the event a MEMORABLE one. HOUSEKEEPERS have been SYSTEMATICALLY BUYING up SUPPLIES of HOUSEHOLD COMMODITIES, sufficient to CARRY THEM OVER many WEEKS, and COINCIDENTLY bringing their EXPENDITURE to the IRREDUCIBLE MINIMUM by the influence of

ANTHONY HORDERNS' FAMOUS SALE PRICES.

This Bright Boy's Health was restored by Lane's Emulsion

"My son when 5 years old suffered from some trouble of the lungs and the best doctors were unable to do anything for him. Acting on a friend's advice I procured a bottle of Lane's Emulsion and can honestly say that from the first dose he made most remarkable improvement.

We persevered with the Emulsion and even now our home is never without a bottle. My boy's trouble was no ordinary cold. About every week he would have an attack of violent coughing and we used to have as many as two large towels covered with blood and thick phlegm, but thank your Emulsion for my being able to say that never once since the night when he had his first dose, has the blood appeared. It would do your eyes good to see him now, he is so strong and rosy and a walking advertisement for Lane's Emulsion. Both my wife and myself wish to thank you from our hearts for this great cure, and I am sure we would not have had our boy to-day had it not been for your grand remedy."

Yours very gratefully, W. T. Snowden, Whangarei, N.Z.

The Phenomenal Success of Lane's Emulsion

Seldom does an article on its first appearance meet with such phenomenal success as that accorded Lane's Emulsion since being placed on the Australian market.

The reason for this are as potent as are the qualities of the Emulsion itself. First of all, it has the recommendation of the physicians and the general public in New Zealand, because of its wonderful record as a health-giver. It's not a new, untried preparation, but has been proved to be all that is claimed for it during a period of over sixteen years. Secondly, many Australians already knew by experience the worth of Lane's Emulsion, and accordingly were not backward in advising all and sundry to try it. Hence its early success in the Commonwealth.

Lane's Emulsion acts immediately, supplying the system with the elements necessary for the renewal of health and strength. Of its ingredients the pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil strengthens the lungs and rebuilds the system, the Beechwood Creasote destroys harmful bacteria, the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda are a brain and nerve food, whilst fresh eggs act as a perfect emulsifier and food for the body. Combined in scientifically accurate proportions, as in Lane's Emulsion, these constituents repair worn tissues and check natural decline, tone up the digestive organs, aid assimilation, make rich red blood and increase flesh and strength.

Go to your nearest chemist or store and get a bottle of Lane's Emulsion. Do not take a substitute. Price 2/6 and 4/6 per bottle—the large size is the most economical as it contains more than two of the small ones.

If not obtainable locally write direct to E. G. LANE, Box 864, G.P.O. Sydney, and we will see that you are at once supplied. Lane's Emulsion is manufactured by E. G. LANE, Chemist, Oamaru, N.Z.

HIGH PRICES FOR BULLS.

Regarding the record sale for £5000 of a half interest in the Holstein bull King Segis Pontiac Alcartra, referred to in these columns recently, the "Pacific Dairy Review" gives some additional information in support of the claim that such prices are warranted. It is pointed out that, although this bull is only three years old, he has to his credit a son that sold for nearly £3000, and he is just getting into his career as a breeder. His service in the stud is, of course, limited to chosen cows, and the fee is £60. "To those of us," writes the "Review," "who have kept track of the unprecedented upward tendency in the values of breeding stock during the past ten years these figures are not cause for undue surprise. We have seen bulls sell at £1000 one year, at £2000 the next, and then at £3000 and the jump to £5000 for half a bull, big as it is, looks reasonable when their calves command from £100 to £200 or more. A Virginia Jersey breeder paid £1500 for a Jersey bull some years ago, and sold sons and daughters from him to the amount of £11,500, and they represented only a portion of his get. We refer to this case because it is the only one we know of in which a report has been made of sales of the get of a sire, but there are undoubtedly other sires whose records beat this one in respect to amount realised on his sons and daughters. It is blood and the producing qualities that it represents that is beginning to count up into the thousands of dollars." If such values are ruling for stud stock, the dairying industry should be on a higher level in America than appears to be the case.

TRANSIT OF STOCK.

In view of public interest in the carriage of stock in Australia, it is interesting to note that in the Argentine, according to a report issued by Dr. A. D. Melvin, Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry in the United States, who was sent to the republic to investigate the conditions of the stock industry, cattle cars are arranged with the doors in the ends. In loading and unloading the train is backed up to the platform, and the animals pass in and out at the end of the rear car, and through that to and from the other cars, the ends being arranged to open towards each other in the form of vestibules, allowing continuous passage from one end of the train to the other. Some of the cars are covered, and some are not. They hold an average of 17 fat cattle. No information is given concerning the method of loading sheep, but it is said that they are ordinarily transported in double-decked cars which do not have a roof. It is understood that the sheep are also loaded by the end method. The end loading of cattle is not a familiar sight in Australia, but this method for filling sheep vans has been in vogue in Queensland for a number of years, and with very great success. It makes for rapid loading; in fact, it is astonishing how soon a train load of sheep can be trucked. It is simply necessary to start the flock into one van, and they will walk right through the train. This saves a great deal of knocking about, both in the yards and in the trucks.

CO-OPERATIVE BOX FACTORY.

The fourth annual meeting of the Co-operative Box Company of New South Wales, Ltd., will be held on the 24th inst. The net profit for the year ending June 30 was £1722 1s 7d, and in their report the directors state that the machinery and plant has been kept in excellent order, and the economical work done by the destructors has more than justified the expenditure of the last year. The water-frontage factory site purchased for £3500 has now very materially advanced in value. The share capital being quite inadequate to cover heavy expenditure for buildings, machinery, land, and large stock, the directors state that a further subscription of shares is necessary to meet the financial demands of the business. Three directors are to be elected at the annual meeting. It will be remembered that this company was formed by the co-operative dairy companies, as it was believed that a combination of butter-box makers was unduly raising the price of butter-boxes, which was, of course, a matter of concern to all butter factories. The existence of such a company, apart from any direct profit earned, must be considered to have an extremely beneficial effect in otherwise keeping prices at a fair level. It is a logical extension of the co-operative principle

INTERESTING COMPETITION.

An interesting competition in connection with the Longreach show (Q.) was the sale of the wool of five ewes, which were to be grazed on natural grasses only, and also unhoused, unsheltered, and unrugged. They were to be shorn on the showground, and the wool sent south for sale. The first pen gave 82lb, which netted 12½d per lb, or about 17s 6d per sheep; the second, 64lb, or about 15s 3d per sheep; and the third, 55lb, or about 11s 6d per sheep. The wool was purchased by the Queensland Government for exhibition purposes.

HORSE SHOW.

Owing to an error on the part of the stewards in the horse in single harness section at the horse show held on Saturday last at the Royal Agricultural Society's ground, Dr. A. Murray Oram's Prince was credited in our Monday's issue with the first prize, Mr. G. T. Potter's Merry Boy being placed second. The positions should have been reversed, the respective blue and red ribbons having been correctly awarded on the ground.

FARMING.

CONDITIONS IN ENGLAND.

RENTAL SYSTEM PREVALENT.

ADELAIDE, Wednesday.

Mr. Alfred Daniel Hall, president of the agricultural section of the Science Congress, in the course of an interview, discussed several phases of agriculture in Great Britain. He said that in the last 25 years public opinion and the attitude of farmers towards agriculture and science had altered entirely. The old-time farmers, in evidence everywhere before the depression which began at the end of the 'Seventies had pretty well disappeared. Prosperity had been accompanied by a marked change of attitude on the part of the people and farming community, who were now eager to take advantage of the opportunities placed before them for gaining scientific knowledge. Twenty-five years ago, there was only one agricultural college in England, and that was a private institution. Now there were in England and Wales 12 colleges, all of University rank, and they were well supplied with pupils. The development commission with which he was connected had been provided with large funds, amounting to more than £50,000 per annum, to assist all rural industries, including education, investigation, starting new agricultural societies, fostering co-operation and facilitation for rural transport. One of the most noteworthy changes at home in the last few years had been the tremendous effort made by the Government to prompt freer access to the land that small farmers might obtain holdings. They had the "single men" farms ranging from five to 50 acres in area, according to soil and other conditions. These had been declining very noticeably until within the last four years. Since then, however, by the operation of the Small Holdings Act, and the activity of country councils, as well as of the Boards of Agriculture, they had increased rapidly in numbers. They were now endeavouring to convince them of the desirableness of co-operative effort. They felt that these small landholders could live under present market conditions only by co-operating, bulking their produce, grading it, and thus placing before the buyers large quantities of the uniform article. When the Small Holdings Act came into operation a tremendous lot of land was rushed on to the market, and owners of large estates ever since had been gradually disposing of their properties, either to existing tenants or to public bodies, which will cut them up for occupation. There was no share farming in England, as it was understood out here. Where the land was worked by others than the owner it was purely under a tenancy arrangement. The English landlord, however, was expected to pay for all permanent improvements.

PASTURES BOARDS.

CARCOAR.—At a meeting of the Pastures Protection Board the accounts included bonuses on 180 crows and five hawks. The stock inspector reported that the crops were looking well, and the outlook for a big harvest was good. Rabbits were numerous in places.

GOULBURN.—The stock inspector's report, presented at the last meeting of the Pastures Protection Board, stated that rabbits were breeding rapidly. Destruction of harbour and the nettings of holdings were increasing. landowners realising that these were the only permanent means of coping with the pest. In fact, the rabbit question was adjusting itself, conditions beating legislation and administration all along the line. It was recommended that the board enforce the destruction of harbour, particularly warrens within a chain of any rabbit-proof fences, they being a menace to owners who had netted and cleared their holdings. Instances had come under observation where rabbits had worked under fences from warrens outside.

DISTRICT ITEMS.

GERMANTON.—A good fall of rain is needed all over the district, as all creeks, etc., have stopped running, and springs are drying up. The lambing has been good, with an average on most holdings of 75 per cent.

COMMISSION ON A SALE OF SHEEP.

In a recent case heard before a Queensland Court, in connection with a claim for commission on the sale of a flock of sheep, the Judge observed:—"When a commission agent puts himself in the position of being the agent of both the vendor and purchaser he should, as a matter of prudence, have a written understanding as to his remuneration." This is an endorsement of a well-known principle of law that if a principal, when contracting for the services of an agent, is told that the agent is going to receive a profit out of the agency beyond the remuneration that the principal is to pay, there can be no possible harm in the agent receiving it; but, unless it has been, in this way, authorised by the principal, the receipt of such a profit is an indefensible act.

HORSE PARADE SALES.

MARES IN FAIR DEMAND.

The horse sales in connection with the recently-held horse parade were continued at the Royal Agricultural Society's grounds yesterday, the auctioneers being Mr. A. J. Morton and Messrs. Wm. Inglis and Son. Draught mares were submitted exclusively, and as they seemed to be in better demand than the stallions sold on the two former days the sales were brisker, though the values reached were low, except when high-class stock was under the hammer. But even the latter did not command the figures usually reached for such quality animals.

The best price of the day was 92½ guineas, paid by Mr. G. A. Higgins, of Gunnedah, for Blythe, a fine four-year-old Clydesdale by Garthland (imp.) Mr. Higgins also purchased the second and third highest priced animals, Pride and Bloom, which cost him 85 guineas and 80 guineas respectively.

Only five out of the sixteen lots comprising Mr. Morton's catalogue found buyers, but Messrs. William Inglis and Son sold 45, a large number also being passed in. The 50 mares sold by both auctioneers realised but £1830, as against £3089 obtained for the 75 animals which changed hands on the third day of the sales last year. Many of the lots under offer were of inferior quality, and buyers invariably stood off them, while others showing some quality were withdrawn by their owners, the biddings not reaching their ideas of value.

The sales will be continued to-day, when light horses and ponies will be submitted. The following were the principal sales effected yesterday:—

TWO CHILDREN HAD SKIN ERUPTION.

427 Bay-street, Port Melbourne, Vic. —"Some time ago my two children were suffering from very nasty sores on face, hands, and legs. I tried various remedies without any good results. Seeing a testimonial in "Age," a case the same as his being cured by Cuticura Ointment and Soap, I obtained some of these and started to use them. I first made a strong lather of Cuticura Soap and hot water, bathed sores well with it, and applied Cuticura Ointment on same. I have much pleasure in informing you that in 4 fortnight they were quite free from sores. Before I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment I was really ashamed to take the children out. They looked dreadful, and the neighbours were afraid to let their little ones play with mine, in case they got sores also. I think Cuticura is splendid also for the hair, as it cleanses the scalp from dandruff, etc., and so promotes growth. My sister is at present using it for eczema on arms and neck. I think Cuticura is the best Soap one can use." (Signed) Mrs. May Polson, September 25, 1913.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT.

OUR STATE SYSTEM.

MUNICIPALISM AT WORK.

THE LATE MR. A. J. RILEY.

One of the oldest of our municipal councillors for the City of Sydney has departed. Mr. A. J. Riley had occupied the office of Mayor of Sydney in the year 1887. He was an excellent representative of the old school. They were not very enterprising, and had little anticipation of the great services which a civic corporation to-day is able to render to the citizens. But, within the scope of their outlook, and it may also be said within the ambit of their powers, they actively interested themselves in the lives and in the welfare of the city and citizens. Not only was this the case with Mr. Riley (who was public-spirited man of a very high calibre), but he also was a man who took a leading part in very many of the affairs of the city and of the nation. Thus he was a member of the legislature, and one of the leaders of the commercial community of Sydney. On the whole, it is probably not through want of enterprise, but through want of the outlook which we have since acquired, that Mr. Riley was not more useful to his fellow-citizens even than he was. But at any rate, he was a type of the municipal man of his day, and within his range he did useful, eminently useful pioneer service to the city and the citizens of Sydney.

BALMAIN FINANCE.

The statement of probable income and expenditure for the year 1914 in the municipality of Balmain has been published. It shows a very commendable reduction in the arrears of rates, which now amount to only £184. This is an indication of the activity which has generally been adopted in most of our suburban municipalities with regard to the collection of outstanding rates. The general rates for Balmain for this year (after appeal) at 4d in the £ amount to £33,288; while the expenditure is estimated at £25,814. It is to be noted amongst the services of public utility that the sum of £700 is proposed to be spent on parks and gardens during this year. The garbage service will cost £1536; administrative expenses, £1482; while roads, street cleansing, etc., will take £7830; asphalting, £1700; fire brigades, £801; electric lighting, £2800; street watering, £550; and public baths, £230. There was a balance in the bank of £959 at the end of the financial half-year, ending July. The services of health, cleansing, etc., seem to have been dealt with in a fairly efficient manner throughout the half-year, and there is not proposed to be any diminution of the activity during the rest of the year. Balmain is a very thickly populated area, and, therefore, it requires a considerable amount of efficiency in the administration of its local affairs. So far the council has proved itself to be an enterprising one, save in one instance; that is in the case where, after going to the trouble of procuring a special Act of Parliament to generate and supply electricity, it sublet its contract to a private company. What advantage it gets from the proposition it is difficult to say.

TESTIMONY AS TO ROADS.

The public are beginning to protest seriously at the scandalous condition of the roads in the State, and particularly around Sydney. Until aviation reaches a higher and safer development than at present, we must be content to move over the surface of the earth in the wheeled means provided, or on foot, and thus the people look to their councils to give them decent conditions in this regard. The councils are between the devil and the deep sea at times. They have on the one hand the clamour of the ratepayers against the increase of taxation—an increase which obviously must be the main factor in the betterment of the roads; and on the other there is the ever-increasing demand for a complete change in present methods, no matter at what cost. The municipal bodies are probably suffering from the haphazard system of the old regime. The old roads are worn out, and as no sinking fund was exacted in the days gone by, the citizens find themselves with worn-out roads and an undiminished funded debt in addition. They thus have to shoulder a new debt in addition to that passed on to them by the stupidity of the legislators and the legislation in the past. But the time for recrimination has gone by; the roads must be reformed; and for that purpose, in most municipal areas, the rates must be raised. The last thing to be said is that the methods and materials of roadmaking must be subjected to a rigid supervision.

WATER BOARD LOSSES.

One good result may come from the discussion which is now taking place with regard to the loss suffered by the Water and Sewerage Board through alleged undervaluing of property in municipalities. The good lies in this, that it may assist Parliament to make up its mind to support Mr. Griffith in his valuation proposals. It is really a most ridiculous thing, and one which is not flattering to our national administrative sense, that we should allow any empirical methods in connection with valuation of land. A true and fair valuation is necessary in so many things, and is so useful in regard to so many functions, that it is strange that we have not had it before. In Great Britain and Ireland the State scientifically assesses the value of land. There is a public body created to carry on this assessment from year to year. These publi servants take all necessary measures to note the changes of values, to note up the transfers of land, and to notify also places where there may be a diminution of value. Therefore there is no reason for grumbling in regard to the exchange of an empirical for a scientific system of valuing land. Mr. Griffith proposes to create such a department here. This matter has already been dealt with in these columns, and very little more is required to be said. It is to be hoped, however—an in this hope it is possible that all municipal men will join—that Parliament will take a broad and statesmanlike view of this question. No one can possibly be prejudiced by ascertaining the full value of the land by scientific means instead of by the guesswork which is to a great extent the means of ascertaining to-day. Once the true value is ascertained, or as near as can possibly be got to a true value then its valuation may be taken for all purposes—with regard to Federal land tax, with regard to State land tax, with regard to municipal taxes, water and sewerage assessments, resumptions, and in a great number of other cases, the methods and procedure in our Courts and our Taxation Department would be simplified, and no prejudice would be done to any citizen.

SUBURBAN HUTCHES.

It is quite a change in the general tenor of things municipal to find a council like the council of Sutherland shire taking a strong interest in the quality of the buildings erected in its area. It is one of the sinful things which those who believe in municipal righteousness have constantly to complain of, that in many of our most beautiful places—where the public seek recreation—such as the seaside, or a beauty spot inland, the character of the houses which the class called the "week-enders" thinks fit to erect, is not always creditable to the area. It is now stated publicly that the Sutherland Shire council has decided not to approve of any plan for buildings in Curranulla-street, Cronulla, and Railway-parade, Sutherland, unless they are built of brick, stone, or concrete. Thus, apparently, the council has set its face against the week-end shack. There are hideous examples of this in such places as Freshwater, near Manly Beach. There, all sorts of "tin town," "bag town," and other quaint residential areas have sprung up. Apparently the civic sense of the denizens of such places is not a very high one. Certainly, Freshwater is one of those places where a police officer should constantly be employed to oversee the civic conduct of some of the week-enders. It is, therefore, a very pleasing thing to learn that the Sutherland Shire Council has determined to set its face against the little "cribs" which the usual week-end resident is content to live in. Huts of this kind are certainly no ornament to an area, and especially to an area which has such high advantages from the natural scenic standpoint, as the neighbourhood of Cronulla and Sutherland. If some of the other councils which have jurisdiction over these beauty spots, these riverside places, and places of natural beauty, would follow the example which has been set by Cronulla, then there would be a great change in the nature of things, in regard to places which ought to be beautified, and which very often have been uglified by those who buy land and build hutches in the vicinity.

THE PLACE OF DRAGONS.

A MYSTERY.

CHAPTER XXVI.—Continued.

From the station I drove direct to the old black mail-boat of the French Transatlantic Company, and by noon we had swung out of the harbour past the historic Chateau d'If, our bows set due south, for Algiers. Leo had told me that Jeanjean had fled to his birthplace. And I intended to seek him and face him.

There were few passengers on board—only two French officers on their way to join their regiments, a few commercial men; while in the third-class I saw more than one squatting, brown-faced Arab, picturesque in his white bournouse and turban, placidly smoking, with his belongings tied in bundles arranged around him on the deck. The sea in the Gulf of Lyons was rough, as it usually is, yet the bright autumn weather on land had become perfect. As soon, however, as we were away from the Gulf and in the open sea, following for hours in the wake of an Orient liner on her way to Australia, the weather abated and the voyage became most enjoyable.

As a student of men, I found the passengers in the steerage far more interesting than those in the saloon. Among the former was a knot of young, active-looking men of various nationalities, who leaned over the side watching the crimson sunset, and smoking and chattering, sometimes trying to make each other understand. I saw they were in charge of a military officer, and one of them being a smart, rather gentlemanly young English man—the only other Englishman on board, so far as I could gather—I spoke to him.

"Yes," he laughed; "my comrades here are rather a queer lot. We've all of us come to grief in one way or another. Bad luck, that's it. I speak for myself. I had a commission in the Hussars, but the gambling fever hit me hard, and I went a little too often to Dick Seldon's snug little place in Knightsbridge. Then I came a cropper, the governor cut up rough, and there was only one thing left to do—to hand in my papers, go to Paris, and join the French Foreign Legion. So, here I am, drafted to Algeria as a private with my friends, who are all in the same glorious predicament. See that fair-bearded chap over there?" he added, pointing to a well-set-up man of thirty-six, who was just lighting a cigarette. "He's a German Baron, captain of one of the crack regiments in Saxony—quite a decent chap—a woman, I think, is at the bottom of his trouble."

And so, while the Arabs knelt towards Mecca, and touched the decks with their foreheads, we chatted on, he telling me what he knew concerning each of his hard-up companions, who, under names not their own, were now on their way to serve France, as privates, in the "Legion of the Lost Ones," and start their careers afresh.

At last, after a couple of days, the blue coast of Africa could be discerned straight ahead, and gradually, as I stood leaning upon the rail, and watching the long, white front of Algiers, with its breakwater, its white domes of mosques, and high minarets, and its heights crowned by white villas, came into view.

The city, dazzling white against the intense blue of the Mediterranean, presented a picture like the illustration to a fairy tale, and I stood watching the sunny strip of African shore until we dropped anchor in the shelter of the bay, and presently went ashore in a boat.

I followed my traps across the sun-baked promenade to the nearest hotel—the old-fashioned Regence, in The Place, and after a wash, and a marvellous cafe au lait outside, I inquired my way to the Prefecture of Police, where, on presenting an open letter, which Henri Jonet, of the Surete, had given me a couple of years before, and which had often served as an introduction, I was received very cordially.

To the French detective-inspector I said:

"I am making an inquiry, and I want, M'sieur, to ask you to allow me to have one of your men. I am meeting an individual who may prove desperate."

"There is danger—eh? Why, of course, M'sieur, a man shall accompany you." And he shouted through the open window to one of his underlings who was seated on a bench in the inner courtyard.

I made no mention of the name of Jules Jeanjean. Had I done so the effect would, I knew, have been electrical.

But when I met outside with the dark-eyed, sunburnt little man in a shabby straw hat and rather frayed suit, I exclaimed in French:

"There is a villa somewhere outside the town where some experiments in wireless telegraphy are being conducted. Do you happen to know the place?"

"Ah, M'sieur means the Villa Beni Hassen, out near the Jardin d'Essai. There are high masts in the grounds with many wires suspended between them."

"Who lives there?"

"The Comte Paul d'Eseux."

"Is he French?" I asked, at the same time inquiring his description.

From the latter, as the detective gave it to me, I at once knew that the Comte d'Eseux and Jules Jeanjean were one and the same.

"Non, Monsieur," replied the man. "He is a great Belgian financier. He comes here at frequent intervals, and carries on his experiments with wireless telegraphy. It is said that he has made several discoveries in wireless telephony, hence the Government have given him permission to establish a station with as great a power as that at Oran."

"And he is often experimenting?"

"Constantly. It is said that he can actually transmit messages to Paris and England. Last year, when the station at Oran was injured by fire, the Government operators came here, took his instruments over, and worked them. The installation is, I believe, most up to date."

"Bien," I said. "Then let us go up there and see this Comte d'Eseux."

And together we entered a remarkable fiacre in The Place, and drove away out by the city gate to the white, dusty, high road, along which many white-robed Arabs and a few Europeans were trudging in the fearful glare of the African sun.

When I had mentioned the Count as the person whom I wished to see, I noticed that the detective hesitated, and, with a strange look, regarded me with some apprehension.

Did he suspect? Was he suspicious of the truth concerning the actual identity of the wealthy Belgian financier who dabbled in wireless?

Were rumours already afloat, I wondered.

Had the ever-active Jonet at last succeeded in establishing the secret hiding-place of the notorious Jules Jeanjean—the prince of European jewel thieves?

CHAPTER XXVII.

DISCLOSES A DEATH-TRAP.

The Villa Beni Hassan, a great red-and-white house of Moorish architecture, with three large domes, and many minarets, and long arched windows of stained glass, I found standing high up, facing the azure sea, amid a wonderful tropical garden full of tall feathery palms, dark oleanders, fiery poinsettias, and a perfect tangle of aloes, roses, geraniums, and other brilliant flowers.

A high white wall hid it from the dusty highway, its position being between the road and the sea, with spacious well-kept grounds sloping away down to the golden beach. Truly it was a princely residence, one of the finest in the picturesque suburbs of Algiers. That afternoon, beneath the blazing African sun, the shining like burnished copper, all was still in the fiery heat, which, after the coolness of autumn in England, seemed overpowering.

At length the ricketty fiacre pulled up before great gates of ornamental ironwork, the two of which were gilded, and on ringing a gleaming Arab janitor in blue and gold livery appeared from the concierge's lodge, and opened.

In Arabic my companion explained that we wished to see the Comte, whereupon he closed the gates, and on foot we proceeded up the winding well-kept drive, bordered by tall palms and shaded by palms of various species. On our left, across a sun-baked lawn, to the centre of which a big handsome fountain was playing, I caught sight of an aerial mast, quite a lattice nearly a hundred feet high, and from it, to another similar mast, wires were suspended four thin wires, kept apart by wooden crosses.

I held my breath. I was actually upon the domain of the most daring criminal known to the European police.

"There are the wires of the wireless station," the detective explained. "Shall we see M'sieur, do you wish to see the Comte?" he asked with sudden curiosity.

"To ask him a plain question," was my brief, and, I fear, rather impolite reply. "But tell me," I added, "have you ever seen his niece here visiting him?"

(To be continued.)

Yes, I'm Alick M'Leon, I'm well known round the sheds;
They call me "The Ringer"—I'm one of the "top" hands;
I'm as tough as green hide, yet I have a wee spot;
And it's asthma! not often, but some one has got it.
My swag isn't big, just bits, three, and one;
But if "whenever" between stations there's a cough;
To be "brief"
I'm a "brick" in my blanket that makes no end sure—

LAW REPORT.

HIGH COURT.

(Before the Chief Justice, Sir Samuel Griffith, Mr. Justice Barton, Mr. Justice Isaacs, Mr. Justice Duffy, Mr. Justice Rich, and Mr. Justice Powers.)

COMMONWEALTH SEAMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT.

Argument was continued in the case in which the Australian Steamships, Limited, for whom Mr. Knox, K.C., and Dr. Brissenden, instructed by Messrs. Baxter Bruce and Ebsworth, appeared, appealed against the decision of Judge Rogers, of the New South Wales District Court, awarding Elizabeth Malcolm £500 compensation for the death of her husband, William Malcolm.

Mr. E. M. Mitchell, with whom Mr. Hooton, instructed by Messrs. Sullivan Bros., appeared, concluded his address on behalf of the respondent, and Mr. Leverrier, K.C., with whom Mr. Flannery, instructed by the Commonwealth Crown Solicitor, appeared, entered upon a defence of the validity of the Act, on behalf of the Commonwealth Government, intervening.

The case stands part heard.

SUPREME COURT.

IN BANCO.

(Before the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Gordon, and Mr. Justice Harvey.)

EQUITY APPEAL.

Hudson v Jope.

Mr. Sheppard and Mr. Cecil H. Cohen, instructed by Mr. E. R. Cohen, appeared for appellant (defendant), and Mr. Davidson, instructed by Messrs. Quinlan and Lee, for the plaintiff. This was an appeal by the defendant against the decree of the Chief Judge in Equity on March 26. The suit was between Alice Elizabeth Hudson, of Mount Victoria, married woman, against Reinhold Jope, of Newtown, pastrycook, in which plaintiff asked the Court to cancel a contract between her and defendant for the purchase of a house known as Dresden, situated at Wagstaff Point, Brisbane Water, notwithstanding that the sale had been completed by the purchaser paying the purchase money, receiving a transfer of the land, and going into possession. Mr. Justice Simpson (Chief Judge in Equity) held that there had been a common mistake which afforded ground to the Court in setting aside a conveyance of land which defendant did not intend to transfer or the plaintiff to accept. He therefore directed that the transfer to plaintiff should be rescinded, and the land transferred back to defendant upon repayment by him of the purchase money to plaintiff, less the value of an iron building as it stood on plaintiff's land.

Defendant now appealed, mainly on the ground that on the facts of the suit as found by his Honor the suit ought to have been dismissed, and that his Honor was in error in finding that defendant had made the alleged representation that a survey was unnecessary.

After argument,

The Court said it was perfectly plain on the evidence that the inducement which led plaintiff to enter into the transaction was the existence of a house known as Dresden, on a part of the land which defendant purported to sell to her; but it turned out that owing to a mistake of the surveyors, the defendant had no title to that part of the land under the Real Property Act. There was no doubt, that defendant honestly believed that the land to which he was entitled was that which he sold to the plaintiff, but by the mistake in the survey a substantial error was created, which entitled plaintiff to relief, either by a suit for specific performance of the contract or one to have the contract rescinded. When she received a notification that the cottage known as Dresden was on Mrs. Coombes's land and not on that of the defendant, it was her duty at once to move to have the transfer rescinded, or to bring an action for specific performance. She might also have brought an action for compensation, retaining that part of the land which had been legally transferred. But, instead of bringing a suit, the correspondence showed clearly that what she desired was to obtain compensation. The conclusion arrived at by the learned Judge would have been perfectly sound if the element of election by plaintiff had not been present, but, as she elected to retain the land, which could legally be transferred to her, and to seek compensation for the loss of the land on which the cottage stood, she was not entitled to the relief sought in the present suit. For these reasons the appeal must be allowed, and the suit dismissed.

"SEALED ORDERS."

APPEAL FROM CHIEF JUDGE IN EQUITY.

J. C. Williamson, Ltd., v the Greater J. D. Williams Amusement Company, Ltd.

Mr. Langer Owen, K.C., Mr. Maughan, and Mr. Weston, instructed by Messrs. John Williamson and Sons, appeared for the defendant company, in support of an appeal from the decree of the Chief Judge in Equity on June 1. Mr. Leverrier, K.C., Mr. R. H. L. Innes, and Mr. G. McLaughlin, instructed by Messrs. Lambton and Milford, appeared for plaintiff company, to oppose. The plaintiffs had applied to the Chief Judge in Equity for an order of sequestration against defendants for disobedience of the order of injunction. Mr. Justice Simpson granted the application, and directed that commissioners be appointed by the Master in Equity. He, however, also ordered that the writ should lie in the office, and that the order should not be put in force until motion by either party, on notice, that it should be put in force or cancelled as the case might be.

Against this order defendant company now appealed, on the following grounds:—(1) That his Honor should have held that the defendants had not performed, represented, or advertised a dramatic work or photo. play from plaintiff's play; (2) that his Honor should have held that defendant company did not commit any breach of the injunction granted by the Full Court, and were not guilty of contempt of Court; (3) that his Honor should have dismissed with costs the motion for the sequestration of the property of the defendants.

The case stands part heard.

NO. 3 JURY COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Ferguson, without a jury.)

M'DONALD v DEPUTY FEDERAL LAND TAX COMMISSIONER.

Further evidence was heard on behalf of the defendant, and the case is still part heard.

IN EQUITY.

(Before the Chief Judge, Mr. Justice Simpson.)

LATE MONTAGUE LEVEY'S ESTATE.

SUIT FOR PARTITION.

This was a suit for the partition of the estate of the late Montague Levey, of Wynyard-square, Sydney, the approximate net value of which is stated to be £81,433.

Mr. Knox, K.C., and Mr. Maughan, instructed by Messrs. Weaver and Allworth, appeared for the plaintiff, Arthur Wellesley Hyman; and Mr. Loxton, K.C., and Mr. Clive Teece, instructed by Messrs. Perkins, Stephenson, and Company, for the defendants, the Permanent Trustee Company of New South Wales, Ltd., Ernest Waddell Perkins, Charles Ernest Byrnes, Robert Le Neve Scrutton, David Benjamin, Edward Ernest Brooks, Maude Alexandria Bonaini, Lewis Davies, and Cyril Anderson Cocks. There was no appearance for the defendant, Thomas Buckland.

Plaintiff was desirous of having the estate wound up, and of receiving a one-fifth share thereof, to which he alleged he was entitled as executor of Sarah Hyman, deceased, one of the daughters of the testator. He said it would be very much to the benefit of all parties to apportion and partition the real estate among the beneficiaries, instead of selling it, and it would become necessary in order to wind up the estate to value all the assets and apportion or partition them. He therefore prayed, among other things, that after providing for the liabilities of the estate, the remaining assets be appropriated among the beneficiaries entitled thereto, or in the alternative, that assets amounting to one-fifth in value of the estate be allotted to plaintiff; that it be referred to the Master to settle a scheme for the partition; and that, as far as might be necessary, the estate might be administered under the direction of the Court.

In their defence, the Permanent Trustee Company stated that before instituting the suit, plaintiff did not apply to them for the share of the estate to which he was entitled, nor did he intimate to the company his desire to have the estate wound up. All the persons beneficially entitled to the trust property, other than the plaintiff, were desirous that the company, as trustees of the will, should be allowed to exercise the powers and discretions conferred on them with regard to the distribution of the property to the persons entitled thereto, without any interference by the Court. They submitted that plaintiff had shown no ground for relief in Court, and that the suit should be dismissed with costs.

Statements of defence were also filed by Maude Alexandria Bonaini, E. W. Perkins, and C. E. Byrnes, who stated that they were desirous that the defendant company should be left free to exercise their powers and discretions, without any interference by the Court.

The suit stands part heard.

A DENILIQUIN HOTEL.

Probert v Goldstone.

Dr. Waddell, instructed by Messrs. Windeyer and Williams, agents for Mr. A. H. Windeyer, of Deniliquin, appeared on behalf of Louis Frank Probert, in an ex parte application for an injunction to restrain Harriett Goldstone, administratrix of the estate of John Oldberry Atkinson, deceased, from further proceeding with an action of ejectment against plaintiff, or in the alternative that defendant be restrained from proceeding against plaintiff upon such terms and conditions as the Court might think fit.

Plaintiff set out in his statement of claim that the defendant, as administratrix of John Oldbery Atkinson, was entitled to the reversion of the Globe Hotel at Deniliquin, subject to a certain mortgage. On November 19, 1909, the defendant leased the premises to one Charles Benjamin Finemore for seven years, and subsequently Finemore assigned his interest in the hotel to plaintiff, with defendant's consent. On February 3 last the defendant verbally requested plaintiff to give up the option of purchase of the premises under the indenture with regard to the lease of November, 1909, but he declined to do so. In April last plaintiff notified defendant that he was desirous, at the expiration of three months, to purchase the premises as provided in the lease of November, 1909, and that he required defendant to transfer the property to him at the expiration of that period free from all encumbrances. In June last defendant, who claimed to enforce the right of forfeiture and re-entry under the indenture of lease, commenced an action to eject plaintiff from the premises by issuing a writ against him. He was ready and willing to carry out the provisions of the indenture of the lease as to the option of purchase, and to pay the purchase money, and to fulfil the covenants so far as was incumbent on him, hence the motion for injunction.

His Honor granted an interim injunction till the 12th inst.

IN CHAMBERS.

(Before Mr. Justice Ferguson.)

A PROHIBITION.

RE NORMAN DEWBERRY (H. ST. GEORGE RESPONDENT).

Mr. E. J. Peterson appeared for Norman Dewberry, of Redfern, butcher, and moved for a prohibition to set aside an order made by Mr. Love, S.M. It appeared from Mr. Peterson's affidavit that on June 23 he applied to Mr. Love, sitting in the Small Debts Court, Redfern, to set aside a judgment entered up by Hugh St. George, medical practitioner, against applicant, on the ground that the judgment was wrongly entered up before the time entitling him to do so had expired. The magistrate upheld the point, and set aside the judgment, but only on condition that applicant paid respondent two guineas costs. It was now sought to set aside the latter point of the order, on the ground that the magistrate had no jurisdiction to grant costs against a successful applicant, and that even if he had judicial discretion in the matter, the order, being against natural justice, should be set aside.

His Honor granted the prohibition, as asked.

IN BANKRUPTCY.

(Before the Registrar, Mr. F. H. Salusbury.)

(Before Mr. Justice Sly.)

The hearing was concluded of the claim made by Francis Owens, the mate of the pilot steamer Captain Cook, and the crew of the vessel, against the barque Alexa to recover £2000 for salvage services, and of the claim of £1000 by the master of the Captain Cook, judgment being reserved.

INDUSTRIAL COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Edmunds.)

RAILWAY MEN'S APPEAL.

The hearing was concluded of the case in which the New South Wales Railway and Tramway Officers' Association sought a variation of the award of the Food Supply and Distribution No. 2 Group, No. 7 Board, on the grounds of their dissatisfaction with certain conditions laid down in the award.

Mr. T. S. Crawford, instructed by Mr. F. S. Moore, appeared for the applicants; and Mr. J. S. Cargill, Solicitor for Railways, for the Chief Commissioner.

His Honor reserved his judgment.

COSTS TO BE PAID FIRST.

George Tattersall applied for the recision of an order made against himself in the case of Smith v Tattersall. In an affidavit he set out that on February 28 last he was called upon to show cause why he should not be ordered to pay a penalty for instigating to and aiding in a strike of the employees of Albert Smith, contractor, of Manly. Later, on May 30, he read in the "Herald" that a case against him had come before the Court, and he had been fined £10, with £5 5s costs. He did not attend the court because he received no notification of the case being listed. Owing to the fact that for so long he had received no notice he assumed that no further proceedings were to be taken.

Mr. Eversleigh, secretary of the Rockchoppers' Union, appeared for Tattersall, and Mr. W. A. Windeyer (Windeyer and Williams) for Smith.

His Honor ordered that the matter stand over generally. The applicant, on paying the costs of the two orders (£10 10s), would be at liberty to proceed in this matter on giving Smith's solicitors a week's notice.

INDUSTRIAL MAGISTRATE'S COURT.

(Before Mr. G. C. Addison, Chief Industrial Magistrate.)

A REMITTED CASE.

The case of James Lonergan against J. B. Molloy, a claim for money alleged to be due, amounting to £18, was again before the Court.

Mr. Croft appeared for the complainant, and Mr. Coghlan (Messrs. C. A. Coghlan and Co.), for the defendant.

This case was before the Court of Industrial Arbitration (Mr. Deputy Justice Scholes) on appeal from the finding of the magistrate, in which no order was made against the defendant.

Further argument was heard by the magistrate, who held that no money was due by defendant to complainant under the award. No order was made against defendant, and £2 2s costs allowed against complainant.

DISTRICT COURT.

(Before Judge Docker.)

JOHNSON AND OTHERS v CROPLEY.

The hearing was concluded of the case in which Lewis Johnson, Lever Johnson, and Edward Johnson, trading as "Johnson Bros.," boat builders, of Neutral Bay, sued William F. Cropley, merchant, of Punch-street, Mosman, for the recovery of £60 12s, alleged to be the balance due by defendant to plaintiffs in respect of a contract for the building of a motor boat.

His Honor found a verdict for plaintiffs for £50.

BELLAMY AND OTHERS v F. H. GORDON AND COMPANY.

Gaius Bellamy, Sydney Montefiore Davis, and John Patrick Silvy, motor garage proprietors, of Cowra, were the plaintiffs in an action against F. H. Gordon, trading as F. H. Gordon and Company, agents, of Castlereagh-street, Sydney, for the recovery of £32 10s, alleged to be the commission at 5 per cent due to plaintiffs as agents for the defendants in introducing a customer in connection with the purchase of a motor car.

The defendants paid £16 5s into court, being commission at the rate of 2½ per cent., which it was alleged was all plaintiffs were entitled to; as to the balance they pleaded never indebted.

Mr. Harry Stephen, instructed by Messrs. Russell and Russell, appeared for plaintiffs; and Mr. F. J. Tanner, for defendant.

His Honor found a verdict for plaintiffs for the amount claimed.

(Before Judge Murray.)

TAIT v THOMPSON.

The hearing was concluded of the action in which Isabel Hotson Tait, masseuse, of Sydney, sought to recover £100 damages from A. H. Thompson, financier, of Pitt-street, Sydney, for alleged breach of warranty, with respect to rooms in certain premises at the corner of Elizabeth and Liverpool streets, Sydney, which plaintiff leased from defendant.

A settlement was arrived at, but the terms were not disclosed in court.

CITY FINANCE COMPANY, LTD., v MATTHEW HARVEY AND COMPANY, LTD.

The City Finance Company, Ltd., of Pitt-street, Sydney, claimed £39 3s 2d from Matthew Harvey and Company, Ltd., of London, alleged to be the amount of a cheque drawn by Albert Gregory, Ltd., in favour of plaintiffs, and endorsed by the defendant company.

The defendants pleaded never indebted; that the Court had no jurisdiction as the company was not resident in New South Wales; that no due presentation had been made of the cheque; and there was no notice of dishonour.

Mr. Monahan, instructed by Messrs. Saywell and Saywell, appeared for plaintiffs; and Mr. Power, instructed by Mr. A. G. de Lauret Arnold, for the defendant company.

The case stands part heard.

QUARTER SESSIONS.

(Before Judge Backhouse and juries.)

Mr. R. J. Browning, Crown Prosecutor.

TWO FIRST OFFENDERS.

Frederick William Tew, aged 38, pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a watch, two chains, two bangles, two pendants, three rings, and a scarfpin, the property of Ada Geddes, at Paddington, on June 15.

Mr. O'Reilly, instructed by Messrs. Herford and Dawson, appeared on behalf of accused, and said that Tew had been drinking heavily. Before his arrest he told the owner of the property that he had stolen it. All the property had been recovered.

His Honor sentenced Tew to six months' imprisonment at the Long Bay penitentiary, but suspended the sentence under the first offenders' provisions of the Crimes Act, upon recognisances for good behaviour for 12 months being entered into.

Edward Stephen Langley, aged 35, who pleaded guilty to a charge of presenting to Leslie Haggett, a valueless cheque for £44 3s, drawn by himself on the Bank of New Zealand, was dealt with in a similar manner.

PLEAS OF GUILTY.

The following pleas of guilty were accepted by the Crown, and the prisoners remanded for sentence:—

Victor Williams, aged 21, stealing a quantity of wearing apparel and jewellery from the dwelling-house of Vera Bassett, at Erskineville, on March 18.

John Joseph Kilduff, aged 40, breaking and entering the dwelling-house of Amy Ann Christie, at Beecroft, on July 17, and stealing six brooches, two rings, three bangles, a necklet, and a muff chain.

George William Clayton, aged 24, breaking and entering the shop of Willis Benjamin Coates, trading as Tost and Rohu, at 14 Moore-street, Sydney, and stealing 200 opals and one opalised shell, on June 21.

James Simpson, aged 26, breaking and entering the dwelling-house of Arthur Joseph Staples, at Punchbowl, and stealing 10s in cash, on June 29.

George Martin, aged 49, forging an endorsement on a cheque for £9 5s and uttering it at Pymble on November 24.

Walter Spruce, aged 19, breaking and entering the dwelling-house of Maud Mary Lobb, at Sydney, on July 10, with intent to steal.

Joseph Higgins, aged 32, embezzling the sum of £1, the property of the Chief Commissioner for Railways and Tramways, while employed in the service of the Commissioner, on April 11.

Harold Clayton Bower, aged 21, breaking and entering the dwelling-house of Andrew Lang, at Leichhardt, on July 3, and stealing jewellery and wearing apparel. The same accused also pleaded guilty to breaking and entering the dwelling-house of Cyril Parsonage, at Chatswood, on June 25, and stealing some miscellaneous articles of a household character.

Thomas Robertson Brown, aged 24, falsely pretending to George Gibb, at Sydney, on June 5, that he was authorised to receive money on behalf of James Spicer and Sons, by means of which pretence he obtained a cheque for £8.

John Brailey, aged 18, stealing in the dwelling-house of Richard Brailey (accused's father), on April 22, two watches and chains, one pendant, one medal, and one finger ring.

MATERNITY ALLOWANCE.

Sarah Jane Sheering, aged 29, residing at King's-road, Five Dock, was charged, on information laid by the Attorney-General, with unlawfully obtaining a maternity allowance, on three separate occasions.

The case disclosed was that accused was a married woman, and had obtained a maternity allowance in a perfectly bona fide manner earlier in the year. In that way she became acquainted with the routine of the application, and was prepared to effect the false pretence. Accused pleaded guilty, and was remanded for sentence.

CONVICTED OF RECEIVING.

Frank Keating, aged 21, was charged with breaking and entering the dwelling-house of Charles M'Murtrie, at Paddington, and stealing a quantity of jewellery and an opera cloak and waterproof coat. A second count of receiving property, well knowing it to be stolen, was added to the indictment.

Accused said he purchased the opera cloak for 15s, and was only taking care of the waterproof for a friend.

The jury convicted accused on the second count of receiving, and he was remanded for sentence.

NEWSVENDOR ROBBED.

Edward Foy, aged 25, and William Davis, aged 41, were charged with stealing a watch chain, gold medal, matchbox, and 10s in cash, from the person of Archibald Keith, a newsvendor, in George-street, at 10 p.m., on June 30.

Both accused denied the charge, but did not give evidence.

The jury convicted both prisoners, who were remanded for sentence.

A SHOP BURGLARY.

Charles Carlington, aged 21, was charged with breaking and entering the shop of Robert Millard, in Park-street, Sydney, and stealing six shirts and four hats, on April 17.

Accused denied the charge and said he bought the hat in Forbes.

The jury found accused guilty, and he was remanded for sentence.

"THE WRONG HOUSE."

Arthur Quill, aged 24, was charged with breaking and entering the dwelling-house of Joseph Dingil, in Riley-street, Woolloomooloo, with intent to commit a felony, on July 9.

The Crown case was one of identification only, but the accused did not deny that he may have been in the wrong house on the night in question, when he was very drunk.

The jury convicted the accused, who was remanded for sentence.

LAND APPEAL COURT.

(Before Messrs. H. A. G. Curry, President, and W. Houston, C.M.G., and C. E. Rennie, Commissioners.)

The Court delivered its reserved decisions in three cases yesterday.

In the appeal of John Watts against the decision of the local land board in respect of his application for the conversion of his settlement lease, 1913-1, Parkes, into an original conditional purchase, the Court sustained the appeal. They remitted the case to the land board for necessary action and directed the refund of the deposit lodged with the notice of appeal.

William Neal appealed against the recommendation of the local land board in respect of John Thomas Fletcher's special lease application, No. 1913-9, Bingara.

The Court's finding was:—"There is reason to think that the active parties in this case and those most interested are Mr. W. Neal's sons rather than Mr. Neal himself; but, whether this is so or not, we think, in all the circumstances, the board's recommendation should not be disturbed. We dismiss the appeal. We direct refund of the deposit lodged with the notice of appeal. We refuse the application made on behalf of the respondent for costs."

James M'Ginty appealed against the recommendation of the local land board in respect of John R. Hayman's special lease application, No. 1912-3, Bingara. The Court sustained the appeal, remitted the case to the land board, and ordered a refund of the deposit.

TARIFF COMMISSION.

DUTIES ON SPIRITS.

The sitting of the Interstate Commission was continued at Parliament House yesterday. The greater part of the day was spent in considering applications for varying the tariff as far as spirits are concerned.

Mr. John N. Joshua, director of Joshua Bros., Melbourne, distillers, asked for an increase of the import duty on whisky. The present duty was 14s per proof gallon; his firm wished it raised to 17s. Fifty per cent. of the trade in Australia, and eighty per cent. in Sydney, was tied. His firm could make whisky at a reasonable profit under the present duty if they had the output, but the proposed increase would aid them. With the present duty and the present output they could only make blended whisky at a heavy loss.

Mr. Norman Shelley, wine and spirit merchant, of Sydney, and part proprietor of a distillery at Horndale, S.A., said that it would be an expensive matter to overcome prejudice against Australian whisky. There was for years a prejudice against Australian brandy, which had been largely removed by a preferential duty of 4s, and an improvement in its quality. If there was a similar duty on whisky (instead of 2s), he would consider erecting a distillery in Sydney. The tariff protection on grape brandy was 4s per gallon. Australian brandy had a more "grapy" flavour, distinctive from French.

Mr. Ivan Auprince, of the Hunter River Distilleries, applied for an increase of 2s per gallon in the duty on brandy.

Mr. Jas. A. S. Dickson asked for an imposition of 1s per cwt duty on infusorial earth and articles made from same, such as lagging, roofing, and boiler composition.

CASUALTIES.

BICYCLE GETS BEYOND CONTROL.

Robert Neave, 12, residing with his parents at 105 Harris-street, Pyrmont, was riding a bicycle down John-street, Pyrmont, yesterday morning, when it got beyond his control, and dashed into a fence. The Civil Ambulance conveyed the boy to the Sydney Hospital, where he was admitted by Dr. Buchanan, suffering from a fracture of the base of the skull.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

LITHGOW, Wednesday.

An accident occurred at the blast furnace, an Englishman, named Ernest Malpass, 19, being instantly killed by a fall of limestone. Malpass and two other men, Fred Thompson and Sidney Stearn, were filling coke into barrows when the retaining wall, which formed the bin for limestone, gave way. About 100 tons of limestone fell through the broken wall. The alarm was raised, and a large body of men were put to work clearing away the stone. After half an hour's search Malpass's body was found.

QUEENSLAND RAILWAY STRIKE.

TOWNSVILLE, Wednesday.

Two trains ran out west and two arrived yesterday. The frozen meat trains and those to Ayr are running. The Charters Towers men refused to come out, acting on the advice received from Brisbane. This has weakened the strikers' position, but there is nothing definite.

EXPEDIENT MEASURES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The worst form of national hysteria lies in refusing to look facts in the face. The policy of pretending that things can continue as they were when an absolute revolution has taken place must only lead to deeper disaster. The way to meet a possible collapse in New South Wales is to take steps at once to forestall, or, at least, minimise, it.

The proposal of the Government to suspend wages boards' conditions is excellent, but it will not be sufficient to meet the situation. There will be thousands of men who will not be in the position to accept or reject the terms of employers, because there will be no work offering at all. These, and particularly the women and children dependent upon them, form the problem we have to face.

Now, I say at once that the order of the day should be preference to married men, especially those with families. And as Government employment on public works must sooner or later be cut down, let the young single men be discharged at once, so that the funds available may be made to last as long as possible to pay wages to men with dependents. If it is possible to take on any unemployed married men, so much the better. I would urge private employers who have to reduce their staffs to follow a similar rule.

The opportunities offered to young single men are such that the married cannot accept. Many thousands of them will go at once into camp if an overseas force is decided on, and volunteers should certainly be called for this, so that all who are fit and willing to serve should get a chance to tender their services. Again, peace camps might be established in various parts of the State, such as in the Pilliga Scrub and on the Crown lands in the Batlow district, where men, in return for their food and a small monetary allowance, could be engaged in clearing, fencing, and providing ready-made farms, and also in ridding these areas of the pests which are a danger to the private owners in the neighbourhood.

But—and this I propose in all sincerity—the first step to be taken should be for the members of the Legislative Assembly to cut down their own salaries while the war lasts. These salaries were raised in a time of great prosperity in this State. They should now be reduced as a proof of the determination of members to share the privation and loss which the general community will have to bear. Such an example would encourage the workers to accept cheerfully an all-round reduction to the minimum wage. We must feed our people before everything, but we also want to keep them producing, so that when happier days return they may go back at once to the industrial conditions they have at present.

I am, etc.,

AS A DIGESTIVE MEDICINE

there is no proprietary preparation which has achieved such an enormous success as Beecham's Pills. And it is worthy of note that their remarkable popularity is not confined to one class of people nor to one country—their splendid reputation is worldwide. The explanation of this extraordinary success lies in the fact that Beecham's Pills always do good. They are specially prepared for dealing with disorders of the digestive organs, and the relief they afford is both speedy and sure. Whether the trouble is due to sluggish liver and constipation or an enfeebled state of the stomach, an intelligent use of

BEECHAM'S PILLS

will soon correct the faulty conditions. By gently eliminating all unhealthy accumulations, and stimulating the stomach to normal efficiency, a great improvement in the general health is quickly brought about. The appetite improves—discomfort after meals disappears, and there is no more flatulence or biliousness. A box of Beecham's Pills is an excellent investment. It pays to take them. A trial is all that is necessary to convince anyone that as a cure for, and safeguard against, digestive ailments, Beecham's Pills

ARE SECOND TO NONE.

Prepared only by Thomas Beecham, St. Helens, England.

WAR DECLARED.

Great Britain's position in relation to Germany has now been clearly defined. Since the neutrality of Belgium has been violated by the latter Power, Britain is at war, and that is now the condition into which the Empire has been flung. For good or ill, we are engaged with the mother country in fighting for liberty and peace. It is no war of aggression upon which Britons have entered, but one in defence of small nations threatened with humiliation and absorption, if not with extinction; and above and beyond everything our armies will fight for British honour. The wisdom of the British Government's attitude and final decision has thus been amply justified. There seemed to be unnecessary delay, and even in Australia critics have contended during the last three days that golden opportunities have been lost. They have declared that Britain should have taken sides with France and Russia at once, struck hard at Germany, and settled every doubt with dramatic power. But great issues are not decided easily. Russia has been on tenter hooks, as our cablegrams report, to know what Britain would do, and her people have murmured or shouted their disappointment and apprehension. It has not made any difference. The first and only question was the honour of the nation; and after due deliberation the awful consequences of engaging in a war as wide as Europe—under modern conditions—were accepted. Had it been a matter merely of the responsibilities undertaken with the Triple Entente another outcome might have been expected. That is to say, had Germany solemnly engaged to respect the neutrality of Belgium, as France has done, Great Britain might have played the dominating part of armed neutral without losing prestige or sacrificing her honour. She would not have been bound to refrain from stepping into the arena at any moment, and this in itself would have represented tremendous pressure upon Germany. Moreover, the latter Power was seemingly willing to give guarantees that the final position of Belgium should not be prejudiced, and that the northern coasts of France should remain inviolate. Germany could see the enormous moral strength of Britain's position with regard to Belgium, and tried in every way to meet it. But the whole question rested upon the inviolability of Belgian soil. Germany was determined to invade Belgium to get at her enemy. Everything in her strategy worth the name depends upon the use of the easy country to the north of France; and Britain took her stand absolutely upon the treaty to which both Powers are parties, assuring Belgium's independence and guaranteeing her neutrality. With the final decision so made Germany becomes the aggressor, and Great Britain stands before the world with a perfectly clear record.

The result has justified the delay. It has put Germany in the wrong, kept Italy neutral, roused British enthusiasm all round the world to the highest pitch, satisfied Ireland, and even placated Mr. Ramsay MacDonald. Mr. Redmond excelled himself on Tuesday in the House of Commons when dealing with the situation. He said: "I honestly believe that the Irish democracy will turn with the utmost anxiety and sympathy to Britain in every trial and danger;" and the leader of the Labour party declared that if the Government confined the question to that of Belgium's neutrality the support of himself and his friends was assured. Sir Edward Grey's speech has made clear a great deal that remained obscure, but its chief value lies in revealing the rallying power of a right decision. The British Government's chief concern was to have the nation solidly behind it. There could be no paltering with principle, nor the taking of risks to satisfy a spirit of adventure. Moreover, it was essential that the Powers of Europe should have the clearest knowledge of Britain's position at the present moment. She has nothing to gain, but a great deal to lose. No possible territorial rearrangements are at the back of her mind; and, as the champion and guardian of peace, she has to assure friends and enemies alike that she is sincere in accepting war under the present awful conditions. "If we stand aside," said Sir Edward Grey, "we sacrifice our respect and good name throughout the world. We are going to suffer terribly by this war. Foreign trade is going to stop, not because the routes will be closed, but because there will be no trade with other nations." And Germany is now shown to be responsible. She stands before the world discredited, a breaker of treaties, and an assailant of weaker nations. All this has given Great Britain a dominant place at the very beginning of hostilities. She is thrice armed with a just quarrel, she has gathered her Empire together in such solid array that each part will give and suffer to the last, and she has vindicated every step she has taken in the path which threatens to run with blood before the end is reached. What remains for us at this end of the world is to possess our souls in patience, while making the necessary contributions of time, means, and men to carry on the great war upon which so much depends. It is our baptism of fire. Australia knows something of the flames of war, but its realities have never been brought so close as they will be in the near future, and the discipline will help us to find ourselves. It will test our manhood and womanhood by an immediate local pressure, even though we never hear a shot fired or get a glimpse of the foe.

PARLIAMENT AS IT SHOULD BE.

In the letter which the Governor-General has sent to the Mayor of Newcastle, cancelling his visit to the city, his Excellency has taken the opportunity of saying quite as graciously as sincerely how fine a proof of national unity the attitude of this whole country affords in the present crisis. A further proof, if any is required, is given in the course of proceedings in both Houses of the State Legislature yesterday. The Government announced that for the present its programme of contentious legislation is abandoned, that the House shall meet from day to day lest urgent business be demanded, that the resources of the State have been offered to the Commonwealth, and that Mr. Wade has been asked to join the counsels of the Government. In the Upper House, Mr. Flowers said much the same thing as far as that Chamber is concerned, and in both Houses the course of business and, much more, the tone and spirit of the proposals were heartily and unanimously accepted. This is wholly as it should be. This is no time for the display of party activities and the waste of Parliamentary government in the manufacture of pages of "Hansard," and scarcely less barren Acts of Parliament. It has taken the world-shaking thunders of all Europe in arms to shock Parliament out of wordy warfare, and if the cause is disproportionate to the effect, the effect is beyond words acceptable to all sorts and conditions of men. We do not know that the course of events will be much affected by the measures of this State, or of all the States, but unity in national affairs will be a splendid discipline for ourselves and a valuable addition to the moral strength and prestige of the British race. At home and abroad it will do nothing but good to realise that in the hour of need, in Macaulay's words: "None was for a party, but all were for the State, the rich man helped the poor man, and the poor man loved the great, for Romans were like brothers in the brave days of old." That is the spirit for a national crisis, and we shall all be the better for it in the heavy days that are upon us. In after days we shall be the better, too, for it is likely that men who have fraternised in the duties, the responsibilities, the glorious sacrifices of patriotism, will not descend to a rancorous level of party activities that tend only to embitter class and individual relations, to hinder wise legislation and sound administration, and to lower the public respect for the Parliamentary system. It was honourable of Mr. Holman to ask Parliament to release him from the party programme, it was honourable of Parliament to take him at his word, and it was honourable of Mr. Wade to pledge his undivided aid in measures of national safety and assuagement of class antagonisms, and for the help and comfort of those who are bound to suffer first by the iron impact of war. This is what Parliament ideally exists for, and every time it rises into that ampler ether, that diviner air, it is the gainer, and the community also.

THE DUTY OF THE PRESS.

At the present time, as our readers are already aware, there are certain compulsory restrictions on the liberty of the press, some of which are imposed by law and others at the request of the Government, which is equivalent to a command. For some days past the cables have been allowed to transmit only those messages of which a very strict censorship approves. The supply of news to the public no longer depends on the wealth or enterprise of particular newspapers, but on the discretion of officials, whose first duty is to consider the defence of their country. This rule, which enabled the Prime Minister to be the first to make known the outbreak of war, will no doubt be in operation as long as the war lasts. So also will be the rule which newspapers will impose on themselves at the request of the Government, that they will give no information whatever of the whereabouts of ships of war. One of the obligations of the press, which in normal times consists in supplying the public with early and reliable news, is now superseded by the first duty of every citizen to aid the constituted authorities in their work. At first sight these restrictions might seem unnecessary for a people who live so far from the immediate scene of conflict as we do in Australia. But each of them has an advantage which far outweighs any temporary inconvenience. The first enables the public to be confident that they can rely on no items of news which are not confirmed through official sources. Both of them are in the nature of an insurance against the danger, however remote, lest the widespread services at the disposal of the press should be used to convey information to some agent of the enemy.

Obedience to rules which have the authority of the Government and of public opinion behind them imposes no test on the patriotism or the sense of honour either of newspapers or of their readers. There is, however, another test by which Australians may judge whether their newspapers are worthy of the high place which they claim for themselves within the British Empire, or in the world. They can, if they like, set an example of restraint and confidence at a time when the minds of their readers are at a high pitch of excitement and sensitive to every impression or suggestion. Merely by setting out the exact facts they can save foolish and needy persons from the financial disaster which may be caused by nothing more substantial than ignorance, fostered by rumour into panic. They can, however, just as easily, and with more immediate profit to themselves, lead those of their readers who accept their information into a course of conduct which may be fatal to them and dangerous to the whole community. They may at the same time heighten the sufferings of people on whom a war must entail prolonged anxiety and bitter grief. War seems like a great game when we read in history of one nation conquering another, of alliances and ententes and of checks and balances, of this treaty superseding that, and of one diplomat outwitting another. The reality comes home to us only when we recognise that nations are but so many individuals, that every day brave men are dying and homes are left desolate, that for the whole length of the war wives and mothers will be tortured by anxiety for the fate of those dear to them, whom they would not recall if they could. It is possible for a newspaper to make a temporary profit out of the most bitter sufferings by pretending to satisfy a thirst for knowledge which is constant and insatiable, or by recalling descriptions of the horrors of war which only intensify the anxiety of those who are driven to read them. But the newspapers which take advantage of such an opportunity can never again claim to be a force for good in the community, or ask for a share in that respect which in Australia the press has always gained from its readers. To have survived the test is not a proof of more than the ordinary human sense of decency and of compassion. To have failed in it is not merely to have disgraced an honourable profession, but to have revealed a sense of honour which would sanction the sale of a country or of a soul, if such a thing were left, for a few pieces of silver.

State Parliament.—By general consent, the State Parliament is to discuss no contentious matters while the war continues, but it is to meet from day to day to deal with matters arising out of the state of war. Yesterday the Minister for Labour and Industry informed Mr. Cohen that Mr. Wise, K.C., was engaged inquiring into matters of vital industrial and public concern at Broken Hill. A report was to be furnished by September 5, and his fees were 25 guineas a day. The Minister for Mines stated, in reply to Mr. Kearsley, that the most promising iron deposits were situated in the Cadia and Carcoar districts. The iron ore deposits of Port Stephens were unsuitable on account of the titanic acid contained in the ore. The factors of quantity and distance from rail or port made other deposits unsuitable.

MAIL SERVICE.

P. & O. WILL TRY TO KEEP CONTRACT.

CARGO BOATS REQUISITIONED.

Mr. A. Gordon Wesche, superintendent in Australia for the P. and O. Company, yesterday said:—"It is difficult to state, in the midst of the circumstances as they now present themselves, what the P. and O. Company's intentions are.

"I am without any advice from my directors in the matter at the present time, but the continuity of the mail service has been to the P. and O. Company almost a religion ever since its establishment, and it will be only conditions absolutely beyond our control that will interfere with the P. and O. mail service.

"In times like these, however, it is difficult to estimate how far we can go on with the contract; but it was only during the Crimean war that we had to suspend the mail contracts we had then in existence, and then only on account of the steamers being taken up by the Government for transport work.

"I received a cable this morning to the effect that two of our cargo ships have been requisitioned by the Government—the Palma and the Peshawur—but these are only cargo vessels, which were programmed to leave London for Australia via the Cape.

"You can rest assured that, whatever happens, the P. and O. Company will always carry out its obligations to the public to the best of its ability."

ORIENT COMPANY.

STEAMERS LEAVE TO TIME-TABLE.

On inquiry being made at the offices of the Orient Company it was stated that the vessels of that line would be despatched as usual. The present intention, so far as the Sydney office was concerned, was that the steamers would leave according to time-table. How far they would get would depend on what developments took place later on.

The question of the departure from Melbourne of the R.M.S. Orsova had been considered, and as she was granted her clearance she left Melbourne for London, via ports, yesterday.

Apart from the fact that the Orama would be detained at Colombo, the Sydney office had not received any official information regarding steamers inward and outward bound. The detention of the Otway at Gibraltar and the Osterley at Port Said, had been arranged by the London office.

PERSONAL.

VICE-REGAL.

IN PARLIAMENT.

GOVERNMENT PROGRAMME SUSPENDED.

MR. WADE'S HELP SOUGHT.

ALL PARTIES UNITED.

In the Legislative Assembly yesterday afternoon the Premier announced that, war having been declared between England and Germany, it was the intention of the Government to suspend its programme of contentious legislation.

The Premier, whose statement was eagerly awaited by both sides of the House, said:—"I desire to inform the House that to-day, as hon. members are no doubt aware from what they have seen in the press, information has been received by his Excellency the Governor to the effect that war has definitely broken out between Great Britain and Germany. This information has been the subject of the closest consideration by my colleagues and myself, and I have to express our conclusion—in which I believe we shall have the concurrence of hon. members—that such an event necessarily casts new duties upon the Government of the State, and may very probably cast new and additional duties upon the Parliament of the State—(cheers)—not contemplated when his Excellency delivered his address to the House at the opening of the session, and which will, I venture to say, demand the closest attention of the Government and of hon. members generally in the course of the next few days.

WAR AND INDUSTRY.

"While the critical interests of safeguarding the more important public weal of the State are being dealt with," said the Premier, "we feel that we should ask hon. members not to proceed with the contentious programme outlined in his Excellency's speech as our programme. (Loud cheers.) That programme, and I think hon. members will understand our motives, must be regarded as suspended for the time being. For how long it is impossible to say at present.

"To-morrow, and I am forestalling a question raised by an hon. member, we propose to discuss certain amendments connected with the industries of the State and the operations of industrial awards under the circumstances which may arise. I may say at once we hope in that discussion to have the advantage of the presence in our councils of the leader of the Opposition. (Loud cheering.) If we can see our way to some joint action, as I believe we can, we may be able to-morrow afternoon to ask the House to pass some short Act to give the Government certain powers, which will be used with discretion, and which will give a greater measure of elasticity to the awards and regulations which govern industry to-day. (Cheers.)

NECESSARY LEGISLATION.

"In certain other directions legislation may be necessary, and from day to day, while the present state of tension exists, and until we see how events are to shape, we propose to ask the House to assemble to conduct the country's business if the necessity arise, but we do not propose to go on at present with any other business except that arising out of the State of war. (Cheers.)

CO-OPERATION WITH COMMONWEALTH.

"I may say, if I am permitted, and I do not propose to address the House any further unless to answer any question, that the Cabinet has made certain proposals, as hon. members are aware, to the Federal Government. The Cabinet has made an offer to the Federal Government to place unreservedly the whole resources of the State at the disposal of the Commonwealth, which is charged under our Constitution with the effective defence of the nation, and I think I may say at this stage that we have received from the Prime Minister of the Commonwealth a cordial acceptance of the offer which was made, and an assurance that in the immediate future certain requisitions would be made upon us, and which are not yet to hand. I think hon. members will fall in with any proposition to invite their cordial co-operation in maintaining the public wellbeing, and in co-operating so far as we are called upon in securing the public safety. (Cheers.)

STIRRING TIMES.

"I can only ask hon. members," remarked the Premier in closing, "to realise that, while there are stirring and difficult times, there is no need for hysteria or panic. (Cheers.) I think that hon. members all feel that they should join with the Ministry in expressing the loyal and resolute determination to put a united front to the common danger and in opposition to the common enemy." (Loud and prolonged cheering.)

OPPOSITION SUPPORT.

There was much cheering when the leader of the Opposition rose.

Mr. Wade said:—"So far as we are concerned in this State, much good can be done by the moral effect of having a Parliament united on the one question for the one purpose only, of preserving the common weal and advancing the best interests of this portion of the British Dominions. (Cheers.) While all must be prepared for some kind of sacrifice, I only hope and trust every section will be prepared to share sacrifices with each other. (Loud cheering.)

AN APPEAL.

"May I," resumed Mr. Wade, amid further sympathetic cheers, "throw out a suggestion of a friendly nature? If it is necessary that hands must be shortened, let it be done as softly as possible, without any suggestion of panic, and with a desire to avoid all soreness of class feeling. (Cheers.) We trust and pray it will be for a short time only, and we will watch for an announcement from across the sea that Britain is once more mistress of the seas. (Loud cheers.) With that, we can look forward for the recurrence of the ordinary conditions of trade and commerce, and a revival of the full body of employment within our powers. Let me make an appeal to the employers of labour not to seize the opportunity by putting it to their own benefit to make an undue profit at the expense of the community. (Cheers.) I say that because I have noticed with some apprehension an indication of a rise in the price of commodities. (Cheers.) There may be a reduction in employment, but on economic grounds there should be no reason for an increase of prices to the people of New South Wales. (Cheers.) If from the development of trade abroad increased prices are realised for goods over sea, there can be no fair ground for imposing penalties on the consumers here, who are all victims of suffering and hardship for which they are not responsible, but in which, in the common interest and as patriots in the great Empire, we ought, as far as possible, to share in common. (Prolonged cheers.)

"Under these circumstances, there is only one course to adopt, and that is to acquiesce in the proposition made by the Premier to the House. (Cheers.) So far as the invitation to myself is concerned, I appreciate it as a compliment to the party, and, perhaps, I may say, to myself." (Cheers.)

In concluding, Mr. Wade said he took it that the invitation extended to him by the Government to join in their counsels was based on the belief that he could be of some use to them in the interests of New South Wales in this crisis. (Cheers.) "I ask for no higher compliment," added the leader of the Opposition, amid further cheering from both sides.

"I can only say this," said Mr. Wade before resuming his seat, "that so far as in me lies I will do what I can to make the path of the Ministry smooth, and to help, from any experience I may have had, to solve difficulties and avoid blunders, and to give to them, as the mouthpiece of New South Wales, the best power and service that I can possibly muster." (Great cheering.)

FINANCIAL CONFIDENCE.

The House listened gravely to Colonel Onslow while he urged that measures should be taken against a certain afternoon paper for publishing what he said were misleading statements concerning the financial position in Sydney at the present moment. It had been, said the member for Bondi, stated in scare headlines that in dealing with the gold reserve every protection has been taken to safeguard it; that the amount of £12,000,000 was removed on Tuesday night to a country town; that various banks have stopped payment in gold; that up to midday no decision had been come to by the bankers regarding the raising of the rate of interest, and there was great excitement during the morning among the producing interests.

The Premier: I regret to say, so far as I know, there is no power to prosecute newspapers for publishing what is not true. But I will give it my attention, and possibly some method will be found by representation to the directorate of the paper, which will prevent even the accidental repetition of such statements.

RESIDENT GERMANS.

Mr. Ball, referring to a recent occurrence in Melbourne, raised the question of the treatment of Germans in this State. There were, he said, large numbers of Germans and their descendents in this State who were naturalised and were British subjects. Would the Premier request that there be no unnecessary offence given them.

Mr. Edden: You don't suggest that there has been, do you?

Mr. Wade: Is it possible to extend the same feeling to Germans in our midst who are not naturalised? (Cheers.) There are many who, through the force of circumstances, are friendly, and who can in no way be held responsible for international events. Can they not be taught to realise that, although we are out to fight the nation who threatens us, we cannot forget the bonds of friendship?

Mr. Holman: I believe I shall express the feelings of the entire community when I say that the rupture of the two nations has in no way altered the relations that Australians as a whole feel towards German fellow citizens in our midst. (Cheers.)

In reply to Mr. Robson, the Premier said the question of food supplies and prices would be considered at the next sitting.

At this stage the Premier moved the adjournment of the House till this afternoon, when, after a consultation between the Government and the leader of the Opposition, a bill will be notified which will have for its object the amendment of the Arbitration Act so as to meet the situation created by the Empire being at war.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

HOUSE ADJOURNS.

In the Legislative Council, when it assembled yesterday, there was an unusually large attendance of members. The Vice-President of the Executive Council, Mr. Flowers, after briefly referring to the European crisis, said that the Government welcomed the attitude taken up by the Opposition as evidenced by the action taken in the Legislative Assembly.

This announcement was received with loud cheers. Mr. Garland, representing the Opposition, congratulated the Government upon the attitude which it had adopted.

Cheers were then given for the King and Empire, and the proceedings were concluded by the members rising and singing the National Anthem.

Mr. Flowers made a statement similar to that made by the Premier, in the Assembly, and concluded:—"We in this House have never shown a strong party spirit, but we feel that we can all stand together in this trouble of Great Britain, and hope that she will come out of it triumphant to the advantage of civilisation and progress the world over." (Loud cheers.)

Mr. John Garland, speaking on behalf of the Opposition, said:—"Party lines have been blotted out, and from now to the end of the war we are Australians who are doing our best to bear our share of the Empire's burden. (Loud cheers.)

Cheers were then given for the King, the National Anthem was sung, and the House adjourned.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL

CANCELS A VISIT.

"DEFENCE OF OUR COMMON CAUSE."

Following is a copy of a letter, written by the Governor-General, cancelling his visit to Newcastle:—

Mr. Mayor,

I very much regret that, being unable to leave Melbourne during the present crisis, I am obliged to postpone my visit to Newcastle, and to forego, for the present, at any rate, your kind hospitality.

I had been looking forward with lively interest to visiting the Newcastle of the Pacific, the namesake of the greatest coal-exporting port in the North Sea, but the outbreak of war in Europe has diverted our thoughts to other channels.

We all realise that, though the immediate cause of war is remote from our interests, its consequences may be vital to the Empire, threatening as it does the position of the two great friendly Powers whose understanding with us has, till now, secured the peace of the world, and given to the Empire that security which is essential to her prosperity. The British Government has the unanimous support of all parties and of all classes, and we are confident that Great Britain has only intervened to avert a situation gravely menacing to the interests and stability of the whole Empire.

From everyone of the Dominions has come tidings of the same steadfast unanimity, of the same firm resolution to defend our common cause. Here in Australia the action of the Government, the attitude of the Opposition, the loyal cooperation of the States, testify that the same spirit animates her people.

This enables the Commonwealth to take prompt and effective action for the defence of our shores. Australia speaks with one voice, and stands shoulder to shoulder with the other Dominions in defence of the Empire.

(Sgd.), R. M. FERGUSON,
Governor-General.

LATE MR. GULLETT.

SYMPATHY OF PARLIAMENT.

When the Legislative Council met yesterday afternoon the President (Sir Francis Suttor) formally announced the death of Mr. Gullett. He said:—"The sad duty devolves upon me to announce the death of one of our members. The Hon. Henry Gullett died yesterday. I feel his demise very deeply, and I am sure the House will sympathise with the loss sustained by his relatives."

During the announcement members remained standing.

The death of Mr. Henry Gullett, M.L.C., which occurred at his residence, Hindfell, Wahroonga, on Tuesday morning, caused widespread expressions of regret. The funeral will take place to-morrow, leaving Hindfell at 1.45 for Gore Hill Cemetery, which will be reached about 3 o'clock.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

LONDON, Aug. 4.

The "Financial News" announces that preliminaries have been arranged for the amalgamation of the two well-known soap-making firms of Pears, Ltd., and Lever Bros.

PRIVY COUNCIL APPEAL.

LONDON, Aug. 4.

In the case of the Pastoral Finance Association against the Government of New South Wales, the appeal was allowed with costs.

This was a case in which the High Court upheld the appeal by the Minister for Works against the verdict of the jury respecting compensation in respect of a resumed property, on the ground that the verdict was excessive. The plaintiff company has now successfully appealed to the Privy Council for the restoration of the verdict.

EXPERT'S VIEWS.

COL. FOSTER DISCUSSES WAR.

WHY NOT TAKE GERMAN COLONIES?

No danger to Australia, according to Colonel Foster, or to Australian shipping is to be expected from Germany.

Interviewed yesterday at the Australian Club, Colonel Foster stated that he thought it extremely unlikely that Germany would attack Australian ports. "It's contrary to precedent and bad strategy," he said. "In the first place, Germany has in the Pacific only a couple of cruisers of about 11,000 tons, and a few smaller boats, and they will most probably, I should think, take shelter at Kiau Chiau. Auxiliary cruisers? Where are they to come from? No, so far as I know, there are no facilities in the Pacific either for coaling or arming merchant cruisers. Simpsonhafen, or Rabaul, as it is called now, is nothing but a few houses, a wharf just long enough to let two ordinary-sized steamers come alongside, and a shed for storing, trade, and so on. Absolutely nothing else—no coal, no arms, no forts. I know the place very well, and the Governor also—a most harmless civilian, who has simply made the place himself as a trade centre. Yes, there is some sort of a station in Samoa, and probably much after the same pattern. You may take it as pretty certain that Germany is not going to waste ships in attempting to interfere with our trade, with the absolute certainty that they will all be sunk or captured in a very short space of time.

BOMBARDMENTS UNLIKELY.

"Another thing," continued Colonel Foster, "is the suggestion that the German Pacific squadron might attempt a raid on our ports. Well, all I can say is that it is in the highest degree unlikely. Ships are never intended to attack the land; they can't do much damage to forts, because the magazines are all underground, and they stand a particularly good chance of being disabled for their real business—fighting other ships. As for bombarding open ports, there's nothing to gain by it, and its against the Hague Convention's rules. If there is any advantage in a bombardment at all it is by blowing up magazines or setting fire to dockyards and so on. Bombarding harmless towns simply makes your enemy the more angry, and in any case bombardment is never practised by a nation with a weaker fleet, simply because it is wasteful, and diverts your ships from their proper work and proper bases.

"I have always said that British commerce in a naval war should flow on without any interruption. It is essential to the well-being of everybody. I suppose nobody imagines that this war has come as a surprise to England. The Admiralty has been preparing for it for years past. Its arrangements have always had in view the protection of commerce, and, naturally, are as efficient as possible. The only difference is that whereas England has been expecting to fight Germany single-handed, the present situation is very much lightened."

WHY NOT SEIZE KIAU CHIAU?

"Do you think India is likely to give any trouble?" asked the "Herald" representative.

"What? India?" said Colonel Foster, lighting a cigar. He considered for a moment. "No, I don't think so. Or Egypt either. Egypt's another point. You see, we're not withdrawing any troops from there—unless, of course, Australia were to send troops to relieve them there. That would be very useful, and, by Jove," the Colonel's eyes sparkled at the idea, "why shouldn't Australia turn out and take some of the German possessions? Why shouldn't we go up and seize Kiau Chiau? It would be a jolly good thing for our men and for England, too. And there's an interesting analogy for it in the early half of the eighteenth century, when the American colonists off their own bat captured Louisburg in Cape Breton Island, from the French, with a few English warships—that was all the assistance they had."

ENGLAND'S FIRST MOVE.

Regarding England's probable line of action, Colonel Foster said it was difficult to prophecy. At any rate, he asserted positively it was very unlikely the British fleet would attempt to destroy the Kiel Canal. "Ships," he repeated, "are not sent to attack the land." As to an attack on the German navy, the difficulty probably would be to lure it out into the open. It would be almost certain, he thought, to go to ground, i.e., to get into a port and stay there as long as possible. "What is very likely," he continued, "is that England will send a force over by way of Belgium to assist France on land. But we can't expect to hear of any great land action for a week or more, because the mobilisation even of the quickest armies would take nearly a week, and the transport of the complete corps to the frontier would take at least four days more. The French anticipate that the first movement against them will take place on the twelfth day, and if there is any out-flanking it will take a good many days longer. In fact, you may say that the French anticipate the first great battle in the twentieth day after mobilisation has started." As to the possibility suggested by Sir A. Conan Doyle in the last "Strand" magazine, the hostile submarines might starve England out by sinking her provision ships before they could land, Colonel Foster scouted it as improbable, if not utterly out of the question. The sinking of neutral ships was, moreover, contrary to the decisions of the Hague Convention, though, of course, he admitted that a nation like Germany, with such vital issues at stake, might not be too scrupulous when desperate.

"The longer the war continues the better for England, as compared with other Powers, because her resources are so much greater, and because she can build ships faster than any other nation in the world.

LABOUR MARKET.

WORKERS HARD HIT.

The war will adversely affect some departments of the labour market.

The secretary of the United Labourers' Protective Society, Mr. A. Vernon, stated yesterday that the dismissals of men of his union during the week numbered 200. He feared there were more to follow.

Mr. G. Galloway, secretary of the Cold Storage and Ice Employees' Union, said the Riverstone Company had just made a fresh start, bringing along mutton for export. Yesterday's deliveries to the Fresh Food and Ice Company comprised 1800 carcases from Glebe Island and 1000 from Riverstone. "If this go on," said the secretary, "the men will have little to complain about."

Mr. J. Grainger, acting general secretary of the Australasian Meat Industry Employees' Union, said Glebe Island at this time of the year usually afforded employment to about 140 hands; now the number was 20 to 30. The next few months would, in the ordinary course of events, be busy with exports.

Mr. J. J. Talbot, Central Branch, A.W.U., said rural workers would not be affected to any material extent. The wheat still had to be got away, shipped or not.

Seven moulders were put off yesterday at the works of G. and C. Hoskins, Ltd., Rhodes.

One hundred men laying pipes on the Parramatta-road, between Summer Hill and Leichhardt, were paid off this week.

WEDDING ON THE FLAGSHIP.

An able seaman of the Australia was engaged to be married to a young lady of this town. As shore leave was not allowed, Father O'Gorman, of St. Mary's Cathedral, performed the ceremony on the flagship.

BRITAIN AT WAR.

INVASION OF BELGIUM

DECLARATION BY GERMANY.

FIGHTING AT SEA

BRITISH CRUISER CHASED.

NO BIG CONFLICTS.

Britain is at war with Germany.

The Prime Minister of the Commonwealth made the announcement yesterday in Melbourne, the news coming afterwards by cable.

A later cable announced that Germany had declared war on England.

The German cargo steamer Pfalz left Melbourne without a clearance yesterday, and the forts at Port Phillip Heads fired across her bows. She was subsequently seized.

No actual conflict between Britain and Germany is reported so far, though a British cruiser was chased by German warships.

It is unofficially reported that the destroyer Parramatta has captured the German mail steamer Seydlitz, which left Sydney hurriedly on Monday last.

Many citizens and soldiers all over Australia are volunteering for service in the proposed expeditionary force.

The 8th Infantry Brigade, with a squadron of Light Horse, was yesterday mobilised to act as a reserve for the coast defences.

The military authorities state that this is purely precautionary, and that a general mobilisation is not anticipated.

The citizen naval forces, 300 strong, will be mobilised this morning.

All the coast fixed defences are fully manned, and are supported by reserves of militia.

Germany's insistence on the use of Belgian territory for her campaign against France was the immediate cause of the rupture with England. Germany has now invaded Belgium.

It is reported that the German High Sea fleet has passed through the Kiel Canal, and steamed westward.

The German cruiser Breslau bombarded a French naval station in Algeria, and the cruiser Augsburg bombarded Libau, on the Baltic.

SCENE OF THE NAVAL WAR.

The above map shows the scene of the naval war which is at the present moment proceeding between the fleets of Great Britain and Germany. The North Sea is probably swarming with torpedo craft, and news has arrived that the Pathfinder, which is the cruiser attached to the 8th Patrol Flotilla, based on Chatham, has been chased by German cruisers. The German torpedo craft will have issued long before this from the narrow water behind Borkum, in the Frisian Islands. The British Flotillas are based on Chatham, Harwich, Portsmouth, and Devonport, but it is safe to assume that the majority will be in the North Sea. It is held by naval authorities most improbable that either the British or German main battle fleets would trust themselves in these dangerous waters until this preliminary fight has cleared the seas of torpedo craft.

A STATE OF WAR.

THE NEWS BY CABLE.

LONDON, Aug. 4, 11.45 p.m.
A state of war exists between Britain and Germany.

GERMAN DECLARATION.

LONDON, Aug. 4, 11.50 p.m.
Reuter's correspondent states that Germany has declared war on England.

ENGLAND FIRM.

BELGIUM'S NEUTRALITY.

GERMAN DEMANDS.

LONDON, Aug. 4.

The Premier, Mr. Asquith, speaking in the House of Commons this afternoon, said that Germany had been asked for a satisfactory reply by midnight respecting the neutrality of Belgium.

He read a telegram from Baron von Jagow repeating the formal assurance from Germany that she would not annex Belgian territory.

The statement was received with derisive laughter.

Germany, the telegram stated, had unimpeachable information that France intended to attack her across Belgium, hence Germany's disregard of Belgian neutrality.

Mr. Asquith said this explanation was unsatisfactory.

He also read a telegram which he had sent to the British Ambassador in Berlin early this morning, when the King of the Belgians appealed to King George for diplomatic intervention on behalf of Belgium, the Government of which had categorically refused Germany's request for the free passage of troops through her territory as a flagrant violation of the laws of nations.

The message stated that his Majesty's Government was bound to protest against this violation of the treaty, and it must request that the neutrality of Belgium be respected.

Mr. Asquith also read a telegram from the British Minister in Brussels quoting the German Note to Belgium, which stated that, as Belgium had declined the well-intentioned proposals submitted by the German Imperial Government, the latter deeply regretted it would be compelled to carry out—and, if necessary, by force of arms—measures which it considered indispensable in view of the French menace.

"Simultaneously," continued Mr. Asquith, "we received a telegram from the Belgian Foreign Minister announcing that Belgian territory had been violated at Gemmevich, near Aix-la-Chapelle, and that the Germans had penetrated still further elsewhere."

Mr. Asquith read Baron von Jagow's telegram, which stated: "The sincerity of the declaration that we will not annex Belgian territory is borne out by the fact that we solemnly pledge our word to Holland to respect strictly their neutrality. It is obvious that we could not profitably annex Belgian territory without making territorial acquisitions at Holland's expense."

Mr. Asquith said the Government had repeated the request made last week that Germany would give Britain the same assurance in regard to the neutrality of Belgium as was given to Britain and Belgium by France.

When the House met again at 7 o'clock the Foreign Minister, Sir Edward Grey, announced that the terms of Germany's ultimatum to Belgium promised the maintenance and independence of the kingdom, at the conclusion of peace, but threatened that, in case of refusal, Belgium would be treated as an enemy.

Sir Edward Grey could only say that the Government had taken this information into grave consideration.

ANTI-WAR MEMBERS.

Mr. T. E. Morrell (Liberal), speaking amid interruption, said that Sir Edward Grey had not given sufficient reasons to the House why Britain should intervene in the war.

Mr. J. C. Wedgwood (Liberal) said that Sir Edward Grey had made a wonderful Jingo speech. (Loud cheers and dissent.)

Mr. Harvey (Liberal) appealed to the Government to make a supreme effort to save a terrible wreckage of human life.

Mr. Keir Hardie said that the House had unanimously passed a bill to relieve the Stock Exchange, but it had done nothing to relieve the inevitable destitution. Some Labour members would do all they could to rouse the working classes in opposition to the Government's proposals.

Mr. A. A. Ponsonby (Liberal), Sir Albert Spicer (Liberal), and Mr. A. S. Rowntree (Liberal) made similar appeals for further negotiations with Germany.

HOUSE OF LORDS.

Lord Lansdowne, speaking in the House of Lords, expressed great satisfaction with Sir Edward Grey's statement, upon which a united front might well be based. In that statement his rare courage showed that in this crisis they need not fear that any section of the Government would be likely to jeopardise the country's security and reputation.

BRITAIN'S FORCES.

ENTHUSIASM IN LONDON.

LONDON, Aug. 4.

The proclamation mobilising the army was read from the Royal Exchange amid great enthusiasm.

By calling up all the Naval Reserves the Admiralty will obtain 200,000 officers and men, which enables them to place the third fleet, as well as the others, on a war footing.

Vice-Admiral Sir John Rushworth Jellicoe has assumed command of the Home Fleet, with Rear-Admiral Charles Edward Madden as Chief of Staff.

WAR SUPPLY VOTED.

LONDON, Aug. 4.

The House of Commons this evening passed all outstanding votes, and Supply amounting to £100,000,000 in ten minutes.

The House of Commons on Monday passed a bill embodying the moratorium proposals suspending the Bank Act, and extending payment on bills of exchange. The bill also prolonged the Monday bank holiday to Tuesday and Wednesday, but this did not apply to general industry.

Yesterday it was decided to prolong the holiday over Thursday.

As much as 85 per cent. has been paid at Lloyds to insure against war between Britain and Germany for three months.

Germany has detained the British steamers Saxon and Castro at Cuxhaven, near Hamburg.

THE CABINET.

LORD MORLEY RESIGNS.

LONDON, Aug. 4.

The "Daily Mail" states that Mr. John Burns, president of the Board of Trade, is reconsidering his resignation from the Cabinet.

"It is understood," states the "Daily Mail," "that Earl Beauchamp and Viscount Morley also are considering their position in the Ministry, but Germany's action regarding Belgium had a tremendous effect on Cabinet and Parliament, and pointed the way to decisive action.

Viscount Morley, Lord President of the Council, has now resigned.

It is reported that Mr. C. F. G. Masterman, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, has resigned.

The "Daily News" states that Mr. John Burns, President of the Board of Trade, will probably resign from the Cabinet. Viscount Morley, Mr. Harcourt, and Sir John Simon were reluctantly impelled to the view that the Government would be forced to abandon the policy of non-intervention.

IN TIME OF WAR.

Mr. Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, has announced that the Government has adopted a war-risk scheme under a sub-committee of Imperial defence to encourage ships to keep the sea and preserve the food supply. The scheme is to operate to-morrow.

It is generally believed that there is less danger from dearth of food supplies in Britain than from artificial inflation of prices through the public's unreasonable buying, and the greed of the middleman.

The council of the Incorporate Association of London and Irish Millers has endorsed the statement of the Government that there are ample supplies of grain and no need to pay panic prices in the immediate future.

Since Mr. Redmond's declaration there has been a significant fraternisation between Nationalists and English Unionist members of Parliament.

Sir Edward Carson has advised all the Ulster volunteers who are liable to be called out for service, to respond immediately as their first duty is to the King.

Several steam yachts have been offered to the Government for use as hospitals.

The Bank of England is rapidly printing £1 notes.

Prince Albert, who is a midshipman, is afloat with the fleet.

A crowd numbering 6000 made a demonstration before Buckingham Palace, and the King, Queen, and Princess Mary, who appeared on a balcony, received an ovation.

The Cabinet, after a prolonged meeting in the morning, reassembled during the dinner adjournment of the House of Commons.

The Jockey Club is considering the suspension of racing.

BELATED PEACE EFFORTS.

Mr. H. Page Croft, M.P., in a letter to the "Morning Post," suggests that the overseas Dominions could save millions from distress by prohibiting the export of foodstuffs outside the Empire, and by supplying it to their British kinsmen at good, but not excessive profit. Such a helpful arrangement would be worth many divisions of troops.

The "Daily Citizen" characterises the war as a diplomatists' war, and says: 'If Europe is to get drunk with blood, the greater the reason why labour should keep a clear head.

A group of Liberal members met in the House of Commons after hearing Sir Edward Grey, and passed a resolution to the effect that insufficient reason existed for the present intervention, and strongly urging the Government to continue negotiations with Germany with a view to maintaining our neutrality.

Mr. Will Crooks, speaking at Woolwich, strongly urged the meeting to support the Government, and at all costs to see the old country through.

The Government has announced that it will guarantee war risks on wheat and flour shipped from Atlantic and Canadian ports under existing contracts, a list of which must be provided within 48 hours, premiums to be paid by the importer and charged against the eventual receiver. It is understood that this step has been taken to secure 64,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat.

A White Paper has been issued containing the report of the Sub-committee of Imperial Defence on insurance of shipping in war time. It recommends that the State should re-insure 80 per cent. of the risks.

He was subsequently released.

FIGHTING AT SEA.

THE GERMAN FLEET.

LONDON, Aug. 4.

It is stated on diplomatic authority that the German High Sea Fleet passed through the Kiel Canal, and steamed westwards.

There was excitement in London to-day, owing to a rumour that German cruisers had been seen in the Atlantic.

If the rumour is true the vessels should be the Goeben and Breslau.

The French Embassy, however, states that the Breslau bombarded Bona, a naval station in Algeria, 85 miles north-east of Constantine.

The bombardment took place at 4 o'clock on Tuesday morning. The German warship then departed at full steam in a westerly direction.

The Admiralty urge that British ships bound to Continental ports north of Calais should be diverted to ports in the United Kingdom.

MISLEADING CENSORSHIP.

Details regarding military and naval operations are meagre and misleading owing to the censorship.

BALTIC BATTLE.

SUGGESTED CANARD.

LONDON, Aug. 3.

Reuter's correspondent at Stockholm has learned from a reliable source that a battle occurred on Sunday between the German and Russian fleets at Aland Islands. The Russians were driven back, and forced to take refuge in Finland Gulf.

A private telegram received in London from Stockholm at a later hour, however, treats the Aland Islands naval battle as a canard.

GERMANY'S PLAN.

The "Daily Chronicle" says: "Germany's theory of war is to make her plans years ahead, nothing being left to improvisation.

"Probably the plan for crossing Belgium was made long ago, when Anglo-German hostility was at its maximum. It is tragic irony that an inelastic chain of such a character should entail a collision."

Germany's ultimatum promised Belgium that if the former's wishes were granted she would maintain the independence of Belgium, and the latter's possessions. The "Daily Mail" sees in this an implied threat to seize the Congo in the event of a refusal.

Prince Lichnowsky, the German Ambassador to England, was authorised to state that there was no German invasion of France, but that on the contrary French troops had crossed into Germany.

RUSSIA'S LEADER.

MILITARY FERVOUR.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 4.

The Grand Duke Nicholas Nicolavitch has been appointed Commander-in-Chief of the Russian army.

The appointment has been welcomed, as the Grand Duke Nicholas contributed much to the recent military revival. He is a man of iron constitution, iron will, and with all the instincts of a born cavalry leader.

AGITATED AMBASSADOR.

When Count von Pourtales, the German Ambassador, visited M. Sazonoff, Russian Minister for Foreign Affairs, he carried two copies of replies from his Government, one of which was to be presented if Russia accepted the German ultimatum, and the other in the event of the rejection of the idea of mediation.

At the supreme moment, however, Count von Pourtales presented both replies.

ADDRESS BY CZAR.

The Czar, in a manifesto, states that Russia is related by faith and blood to the Slav people, and has never regarded their faith with indifference, but the fraternal sentiment was awakened with extraordinary force when Austria addressed Servia with claims which could not be accepted by an independent State. "When we took the necessary measures of precaution," the manifesto adds, "Germany demanded an immediate cessation, and being rebuffed, suddenly declared war. We believe our faithful subjects will rise with unanimity and devotion to repulse this insolent attack."

The Czar, addressing a crowd before the Palace, said that they would never make peace till the enemy's last soldier had left Russian territory.

Thousands of people made a demonstration before the British Embassy, and Sir George Buchanan was frantically cheered when he declared that England was in perfect sympathy with Russia.

GERMAN WAR FUND.

A bill was introduced to the Reichstag, appropriating an extraordinary credit of £250,000,000.

NEGOTIATIONS.

THE GERMAN VIEW.

BERLIN, Aug. 4.

A White Book which has been issued refers to the last stages of the negotiations regarding the crisis.

The Government states: "We worked shoulder to shoulder with England in mediation at Vienna. We forwarded the British proposal that Austria ought, after the invasion of Servia, to dictate her conditions there, and we had assured Russia that we would accept this basis. Yet, while our efforts at mediation were being supported by British diplomacy, came the constantly increasing news of Russia's mobilisation. This was in full progress though repeatedly and solemnly denied.

"The Kaiser called the Czar's attention to the menacing character of Russia's actions. The Czar replied: 'I thank thee from the bottom of my heart for thy mediation, which leaves a gleam of hope that even now all may end peacefully. It is technically impossible to discontinue military operations owing to Austria's mobilisation, but the troops will not take provocative action while negotiations continue. I give thee my word.'

"The German Emperor replied: 'The mobilisation rendered mediation merely illusory, but I continued negotiations. I now learn from a trustworthy source of your serious war preparations, and the safety of my kingdom compels me to take retaliatory measures. It still lies in thy power to avert a world calamity. Russia could well wait the result of my mediation.'"

It is reported that a German force is near Mars-la-Tour, 14 miles west-by-south of Metz, where a great battle between the French and Prussians was fought on August 16, 1870, known as the battle of Vionville.

The city is now calm. Hundreds of men women, and children at the Gare du Nord, mostly Germans, are waiting to leave, but the railway services are being wholly used for military purposes.

BRITISH POLICY.

SIR EDWARD GREY'S SPEECH.

RELATIONS WITH FRANCE.

LONDON, Aug. 3.

Sir Edward Grey, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, when he made his speech in the House of Commons on Monday evening announcing the attitude of Great Britain, spoke for an hour and a half.

He said that when the documents covering the European situation were published, it would be seen how whole-hearted the efforts of Great Britain had been to secure peace. At the time of the Algeciras incident he had been asked if armed support would be given by Britain to France. He had replied that he could promise nothing unless he received the whole-hearted support of public opinion, but he told the French and German Ambassadors that, if war were forced on France, public opinion would rally by France.

Continuing, Sir Edward Grey said: "My own feeling is that if a foreign fleet came and battered the undefended coasts of France, we could not stand by. (Loud and prolonged cheers.) With this thing going on under our very eyes, we could not stand with our arms folded, looking dispassionately on and doing nothing. That, I believe, is the feeling of this country."

Great Britain, he added, for many years had been in close friendship with France, but how far that entailed obligations was for every man to look in his own heart and conscience.

He had his own feelings that Great Britain's interest in the neutrality of Belgium was as strong to-day as in the year 1870. When the work of mobilisation began he had telegraphed to France and Germany. France replied that she would respect the neutrality of Belgium. The reply of the German Secretary was that he feared he would not be able to answer that question, because he was afraid it would disclose the plans of Germany.

This announcement created a sensation, and was greeted with cries of "trickery."

Germany had then sounded Britain as to whether the restoration of the integrity of Belgium would satisfy Britain, and Sir Edward Grey had replied that Britain could not barter her obligations.

"I have said enough to show that we must be prepared," he continued. "We are prepared. (Cheers ensued lasting over a minute.) Mr. Asquith and Mr. Churchill have no doubt of the readiness and efficiency of our forces. There is only one way that Britain can make certain of keeping outside of the war, and that is that there should be issued immediately a proclamation announcing our unconditional neutrality. We cannot do that. If we stand aside we sacrifice our respect and good name throughout the world. We are going to suffer terribly by this war. Foreign trade is going to stop, not because the routes will be closed, but because there will be no trade with other nations."

Sir Edward Grey concluded that, if the situation developed, as seemed probable, Britain would face it. He believed that when the country realised what was at stake it would support the Government with determination, resolution, and endurance. (Loud cheers.)

Mr. Redmond (Nationalist) said that in times past when the Empire had been engaged in terrible enterprises the sympathy of Nationalist Ireland had been estranged, but recent years had altered the situation. A wider knowledge of real Irish history had altered the view of British democracy towards Ireland.

"I honestly believe," he said, "that the Irish democracy will turn with the utmost anxiety and sympathy to Britain in every trial and danger. Possibly the history of 1778 will be repeated when 100,000 volunteers sprang into existence to defend Ireland from invasion."

Mr. Ramsay Macdonald, leader of the Labour party, said that if the Government confined the question to that of Belgium's neutrality, the Labour party would support them. "We brought about the Crimean war because of honour, we rushed into the South African war because our honour was involved, and now Sir Edward Grey had appealed to us to-day on account of our honour," he said.

WAR NOTES.

A FIGHT FOR LIFE.

Britain is at war. It is not a Boer war this time. It is a fight for life, in the old country. Britain has been plunged into it, head over ears, in order to fulfil two promises—a promise which she gave to the little European State of Belgium, which is now in the utmost extreme of peril, and a promise which France at least understood her to have given. The old question of whether those undertakings were necessary to Britain's policy of defence has ceased to be a question. The fact is they were given—and Britain's name would never have been honoured again if she had not stood by them. She has stood by her engagements, and by doing so the mother country is now engaged in perhaps the most difficult struggle in her whole 1500 years of history. It is no frontier expedition—no Crimea, no Indian Mutiny. It is a fight for life and death against an enemy of tremendous strength, who, if he succeeds, will quite probably endeavour to break up the British Empire for all time.

IN THE NORTH SEA.

It may be taken as quite certain that fighting is continually in progress between the German fleet and the British. Those two are the only ones to consider at all in the North Sea. The French navy, since the Entente with Britain, has been entirely removed to the Mediterranean. The great channel ports of Cherbourg, Havre, and Brest, which ten years ago were considered of enormous importance, are to-day deserted except for their light squadron of six cruisers and a flotilla of 24 torpedo boats.

WHAT THE KIEL CANAL MEANS.

Practically the whole of the British and German fleets can be rushed in a few hours into the North Sea. The so-called Baltic fleet of Germany is as much for the North Sea as for the Baltic. No Russian fleet could possibly leave the Baltic and thread the narrow complicated channels of the sound with the German destroyers and submarines against it. It is just possible that the more antiquated portion of the German fleet has been left to check the Russian Baltic fleet from harassing the Baltic coast of Germany. But, now that the Kiel Canal has just been widened—there are now many places in it where Dreadnoughts can cross, and four places where they can turn—it may be taken for granted that Germany can have her whole battle fleet either in the North Sea or the Baltic at her preference.

BRITAIN'S FIRST PROBLEM.

The fleets must now be fighting in the North Sea—but it will probably be the torpedo fleets only—that is, if naval opinion in recent years has been correct. If there were no other reasons, one fact would make it certain—that the Germans cannot leave the channel waters unthreatened in the first days of a war. It has always been a question whether England was to throw an army of 120,000 men, all complete, into Belgium or the north of France, at the outset. There is no question that this force would be of the utmost use to the French, and, though small in number, might turn the balance. Germany's main invasion will be round one flank or the other of the French defences, either through Belgium on the north or through the corner of Switzerland on the south. If through Belgium, then 120,000 British troops, with 180,000 Belgians and the strong fortress of Liege on its flank, would place an advancing Germany army in a difficult situation, and a defeated army in a desperate one.

DANGEROUS WATERS.

A single flotilla of German destroyers or submarines in Channel waters would make the transport of British troops across the Channel too dangerous for contemplation. The Admiralty during the Agadir crisis came to downright strained relations with the War Office because it could not guarantee the safety of these transports in the first phase of a war. It is believed that Admiral Wilson refused to hamper the fleet with this responsibility, when its first task was to clear the sea of the enemy. For that reason, if for no other, a German flotilla seems bound to keep a watch upon the Channel, and if it is there it is certain it will be fighting. The Pathfinder, which has been chased by cruisers in the North Sea, is the cruiser attached to the 8th British patrol flotilla of destroyers.

THE GERMAN FLOTILLAS.

The Germans have always—even before they set out to possess a great fleet—relied upon the great excellence of the training of their torpedo flotillas. The shallow German coastal waters, with their chains of islands and complicated channels around Borkum, Emden, and Norderney, half mud flats at low tide, are a splendid retreat for their flotillas. British naval officers have always recognised the very high standard attained by the Germans in this part of naval warfare. So continuous is the training that it has recently been questioned by more than one German Admiral whether the strain on the men's nerves is not far too severe. The German flotillas are smaller than the British, numbering only 11 destroyers to a flotilla against Britain's 20. A manoeuvre on which they greatly rely is that of lying in the lee of a battle fleet until a certain moment in battle, when they are ordered to make a sudden dash through the intervals of their own fleet, no matter what speed it is making, and rush the enemy. Manoeuvres like this at night, with the lights out, have been attended with a chain of terrible accidents, but they are still practised. When they are made the whole crew has to be present on deck.

A SURPRISE FOR CRITICS.

German naval critics have long supposed the men of the British navy to be inferior in training and physique to German seamen, and statements have been made even in technical papers about the inferior construction of British ships and guns, and the supposed discontent, want of discipline, and comparative want of self-respect of British crews. When the British fleet six weeks ago visited Kiel, the workmanlike appearance of ships and crews seems to have impressed the newspapers. The Germans have clung for some reason to smaller guns than the British—there is not a single gun in the German navy larger than 12in, and cannot be until 1916. At least thirteen ships in the British navy have already 13.5in guns, and these guns aroused a good deal of comment in Kiel.

PROBABLE GERMAN METHODS.

It is known to British officers that Germans rely largely on the use of mines—possibly even on the high seas. Germany refused to agree to the clause in the Hague Convention prohibiting the placing of unanchored mines at sea. British tactics allow for the probability that Germans will do this. German battleships have almost always been given at least twice as many torpedo tubes as their British rivals, whereas their guns have remained curiously small. Ten of the earlier German battleships have no gun bigger than 9.4in, and even their Dreadnought cruisers and four earlier Dreadnought battleships have only 11in guns. It looks as though the Germans relied upon a comparatively short-range battle and torpedo attack, whilst the British trusted to the tremendous effect of heavy gun fire at five to seven miles.

THE NEW BRITISH COMMANDER.

The Admiralty has chosen Vice-Admiral Sir John Jellicoe to command the British fleet. This means that they have chosen a commander seven years younger than Admiral Sir George Callaghan, whom he has succeeded. Sir John Jellicoe, like Prince Louis of Battenberg, was one of the men picked by Mr. Churchill at the time when he carried through his sweeping reforms at the Admiralty. Prince Louis became First Sea Lord, and Admiral Jellicoe Second Sea Lord. It is believed that Prince Louis was at one time anxious, if trouble arose, to take command of the fleet himself; but, if so, it has evidently been considered that continuity at the Admiralty was too important. Sir John Jellicoe is a comparatively young Admiral—only 55 years of age—and curiously enough he holds a special decoration from the Kaiser for his services in China. He had a brilliant career at the Royal Naval College, and was commander in the ill-fated Victoria when she was sunk in the Mediterranean. His chief of staff, Rear-Admiral Madden, was actually to have gone from the command of the third cruiser squadron to the Admiralty as Third Sea Lord on July 29. He is evidently another of Mr. Churchill's chosen men.

THE GERMAN NAVY LEADERS.

The commander of the German High Seas Fleet is Admiral von Ingenohl, with Admiral Pohl as his Chief of Staff. The man on whose shoulders will fall the heavy office work which in Great Britain is carried out by Prince Louis of Battenberg and Mr. Churchill is the Grand Admiral, who is perhaps more than any other responsible for the present state of the Germany Navy, the Secretary of State for the Germany Navy Alfred von Tirpitz. Grand Admiral von Tirpitz has for the last 17 years filled his high office with extraordinary success. He has not only had to organise a rapidly increasing Admiralty Office which has always been under-staffed, but to induce the often opposing members of all political parties to vote for constant increases required for the navy. It is only his extraordinary popularity with all sides of politics and a certain charming urbanity of manner that has enabled him to do this with consistent success. Lately, however, the work has been falling more and more heavily upon his advancing years, and his retirement has several times been rumoured. For 10 years, however, he has had to help him in Parliamentary business Admiral von Capelle, whose popularity almost equals his own.

THE GOEBEN AND BRESLAU.

The German battle-cruiser Goeben, which is said to have been sighted in the Atlantic, is a ship similar to the Australia, which was, when the last mail left England, on a visit to the Mediterranean. If the report is true, she has been ordered either to join the High Seas Fleet somewhere at sea, or to operate on the Atlantic trade routes, and has passed Gibraltar after war broke out. The Breslau is a lighter "town" class cruiser, similar to the Sydney. There are no other German ships in the Mediterranean, and any fighting there would, therefore, be between the Austrians and, probably, the French.

STOCK EXCHANGE CLOSED.

The members of the Sydney Stock Exchange did not meet yesterday for the usual "calling" of the investment and mining lists.

It has not yet been decided as to when the next meeting will take place, but members are keeping in touch, and a more definite announcement may be expected shortly.

SHIPS AT SEA.

RIGHT TO CAPTURE.

SIR WM. IRVINE EXPLAINS.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

The position of shipping companies was explained this evening by Sir William Irvine. "I have no doubt," he said, "that the various shipping companies are familiar with the rights and liabilities pertaining to a state of war. Lest there should, however, be any misunderstanding in regard to the Hague Convention, it may be well to remind all owners of British ships that Germany is not a party to Article 3, and that the portion of the convention relating to merchant ships in time of war, which provides that after the declaration of war an enemy's ships on the high seas are not liable to confiscation if ignorant at the time of the existence of a state of war. In other words, all British ships on the high seas at the present time, whether they know or do not know of the existence of war between Great Britain and Germany, are subject to capture as prizes or confiscation. Similarly, of course, German ships are liable to be captured. It may be that some shipping companies that have ships at sea may be able to advise them to seek shelter in neutral waters."

THE SEYDLITZ.

REPORTED CAPTURE BY A DESTROYER.

It was unofficially reported last night that the destroyer Parramatta had captured the Norddeutscher-Lloyd mail steamer Seydlitz, and was escorting her back to port.

The Seydlitz, which is a vessel of 7964 tons, left her berth in Circular Quay suddenly on Monday morning last, and proceeded to sea. The vessel had cleared at the Customs-house for Antwerp direct, but it was expected that she had some other destination in view.

Although a look-out was kept at South Head for the vessels last night, no trace of them could be seen, in spite of the fact that it was a beautiful, clear moonlight night, and a vessel would have been distinguished many miles off.

THE PFALZ.

SEIZED AT MELBOURNE.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

When dawn broke to-day there was one German vessel in the port of Melbourne. This was the Pfalz, a cargo steamer belonging to the Nord-Deutscher Lloyd Company. The Pfalz emerged from the Yarra mouth and passed Williamstown at full speed to-day. She ran down the south channel at full speed, and between noon and 1 o'clock reached Queenscliff, where the vessel slowed down to receive a visit from the examining officer, who boarded the Pfalz from the Alvina, which is engaged in this work at the mouth of the port.

Evidently the clearance papers were in order, since, according to Pilot Robinson's story, the vessel was allowed to proceed. She had just got up speed again and was entering The Rip when a shot from Queenscliff fort plunged into the water about 50 yards astern. The pilot immediately looked up and saw that the signal on the fort was against the vessel. Her head was turned round, and she came back up the bay. A guard of marines was put on board for the night.

OBERHAUSEN SEIZED.

HOBART, Wednesday.

The German-Australian liner Oberhausen is now loading 750,000ft. of timber at Port Huon for a South African port. Directly the official notification of the outbreak of war between Great Britain and Germany was received, the district naval officer (Commander A. C. Dunn) took measures to detain the vessel.

STEAMER STOLZENFELS VISITED.

Excitement was caused on the steamer Stolzenfels, lying in Woolloomooloo Bay, yesterday, when Customs officials paid a visit to the steamer.

The Stolzenfels is a German-owned vessel, but is under charter to the United States and Australasian Steamship Company. She arrived from New York, via Melbourne, on August 2, and has been busy discharging cargo in Woolloomooloo Bay.

Yesterday afternoon Captain Altmeppe, of the Stolzenfels, received a peremptory message to be on board his steamer within an hour's time. He immediately obeyed the order, and was met by several Customs officials, who remained in conversation with the captain and Mr. G. A. Parkes, agent for the vessel, for a considerable time. The reason for the visit was not made public, but it is surmised that the object was to obtain the captain's parole.

The steamer only has about thirteen or fourteen Germans on board, the crew consisting mainly of Lascars.

THE SCHARZFELS ARRESTED.

ADELAIDE, Wednesday.

The steamer Scharzfels, from New York, running in the interests of the United Tyser line, but flying the German flag, arrived at the semaphore about noon. The captain was not aware that war had been declared between Great Britain and Germany; otherwise, it is stated he would not have approached the anchorage. She has been placed under arrest by the authorities, and removed in custody to Port Adelaide.

NORWEGIAN BARQUE DETAINED.

NEWCASTLE, Wednesday.

The Norwegian barque Ferm intended leaving the port this morning for Caleta Colosa, with 3064 tons of coal, but when her agents applied for the necessary permission they were informed that the barque would not be allowed to take her departure. Although no reason was given for the action, it is understood that the barque is chartered by a German firm, and that the shipment is consigned to a German company.

MOTOR TRADERS.

The general committee of the Motor Traders' Association of New South Wales held a special meeting yesterday to consider the trade situation as affected by the European crisis. The opinion was generally expressed that, in the event of war, everything possible should be done to assist the Government, and the following resolution was carried with enthusiasm, the secretary being directed to wire it to the Premier:—"That this association desires to express its unswerving loyalty to the British Empire during the present crisis, and places at the disposal of the Minister for Defence all the resources of the association, so that he may obtain the fullest information with regard to motor transport, etc." The committee considered that stocks of motor cars held were extremely moderate; that future car shipments must necessarily be delayed, and cost of landing seriously increased. The supplies of petrol and tyres were sufficient for some time to come. The committee further advised members to conduct their business, as far as possible, on a strictly cash basis.

LOYAL GERMANS.

WILL FIGHT FOR BRITISH FLAG.

ALBURY, Wednesday.

A meeting was held to-day at Walla Walla, one of the principal centres of German settlement in Riverina. Reference was made to the European war, and the Germans, who are nearly all native-born British subjects, expressed the warmest feelings of loyalty to Australia and Great Britain. The following resolution was carried unanimously, with much enthusiasm, on the motion of Mr. H. A. Paech, seconded by Mr. John Wenke:—"That the German residents of Walla Walla and district express their unswerving loyalty to the British flag, and, as Australian-born, are prepared at any moment if required, to stand shoulder to shoulder with their fellow-Australian subjects in the defence of the British flag, and would be prepared to give their money or their blood, if required, in the defence of this country and the British flag, no matter who the invader may be."

AWARDS.

MAY BE SUSPENDED.

BY PROCLAMATION.

PREMIER'S STATEMENT.

Discussing the position which is likely to arise here on account of the gravity of the crisis in Europe, the Premier (Mr. Holman) said:—"The position which has now arisen makes it necessary for the Government to suspend industrial regulations. I want to be perfectly understood in regard to this position. Employers might prefer to keep the whole of their hands on and work them shorter periods than the law permits, so as to avoid the necessity of making wholesale dismissals. If they are bound to pay a certain weekly minimum wage, this course is not practicable."

"Let me put it in another way. Take a man who employs a thousand hands as an example. During this period he may have work for only 500 men. The awards as they stand say that a certain wage must be paid weekly. This prevents him from giving employment to all his men. If he could work one lot, say, three days a week, and the other lot during the other three days, all his employees would be given an opportunity of earning something, and so tide over any period of stress which may arise.

"In such times as these we have to cooperate for the general good, and no one section of the community must be too persistent in its claims at the expense of the other.

"It is probable, therefore, that the Government will take steps to suspend by proclamation parts of awards, so that the convenience and well-being of the whole community can be met."

"I want this to be borne in mind," concluded Mr. Holman. "In taking this action the Government is not in any way going back upon the principles underlying these awards. We still stand firmly by them. We are, however, convinced that some action may have to be taken along the lines I have indicated. Cabinet will consider the matter to-morrow, and I will then be in a position to make a definite statement on the situation."

EMPLOYERS' FEDERATION.

CALLS URGENT MEETING.

What is described on the circular letter as a "specially urgent" meeting has been called of the council of the Employers' Federation for 11 o'clock to-day, at the federation rooms, Hunter-street. The meeting is called for the purpose of taking into consideration the suggestion made by the Premier (Mr. Holman) yesterday, for the suspension of all wages board awards, in order that the depression which is certain to arise as a result of the war may not press too heavily upon the employees of the city. Amongst employers there is a general and genuine desire that something may be done to obviate the wholesale dismissal of men, and yet it is felt that, if the rigors of the innumerable awards are to be observed, there will be no other course open to employers, who are already finding that their big commercial ventures are being paralysed by the depressing effects on business undertakings arising from the startling news of the war.

DEFENCE FORCES.

MORE TROOPS TO BE MOBILISED.

WAVE OF ENTHUSIASM.

RUSH OF VOLUNTEERS.

All over Australia there is manifested a spirit of Imperial enthusiasm. Thousands of volunteers are offering for service in the expeditionary force which the Commonwealth has offered the Imperial Government.

After the tension of the last few days the definite pronouncement by the Prime Minister that war had broken out between Great Britain and Germany was received with relief.

From various parts of the country come reports of Light Horsemen, infantry, ex-South African soldiers, and bushmen anxious to join the expeditionary force. Many more owners of motor cars have notified their readiness to place them at the disposal of the military authorities whenever required. Victoria Barracks has been inundated with offers from volunteers, and the roll is assuming large proportions. Headquarters staff is so busy with other work that it was found impossible to deal with all applications.

An official notification was, therefore, issued stating that special arrangements had been made for receiving volunteers. Those able to apply personally should call at the Army Service Corps' drill hall at Victoria Barracks between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. or between 2 and 4 p.m. It is not absolutely necessary to apply personally. Those unable to do so may have their names registered by writing to the Assistant Adjutant-General at Victoria Barracks, stating full name and address, age, particulars of previous service, and any special qualifications.

Several members of the South African Soldiers' Association have volunteered, and yesterday some of the old "C.B.C." (Citizens' Bushmen's Contingent) came to Sydney with a view to enlisting. Amongst these is Captain Cope, and if mounted men are sent it is possible a squadron or perhaps a regiment could be formed of the "bushmen." Numbers of them are prepared to bring their own horses.

Captain Vernon, of the Sydney Lancers, has been besieged during the last couple of days by members of the 7th A.L.H. anxious to volunteer, but nothing definite as to the constitution of the force can be known until word comes from the Imperial authorities.

The Minister for Defence to-day received hundreds of offers from men willing to join the proposed expeditionary force. All classes were represented in the applications.

INFANTRY BRIGADE MOBILISED.

It was officially announced last night at Victoria Barracks by Lieutenant Teece, A.I.C., on behalf of the General Staff Officer, that as a precautionary measure a complete brigade of infantry would be mobilised to act as mobile reserves in support of the Sydney coast defences, while portion of the 16th Infantry Regiment would be mobilised to act as a reserve of the Newcastle coast defences. The 8th Infantry Brigade will be under the command of Colonel Gerald R. Campbell, V.D., and will be constituted as follows:—

25th Infantry Regiment (city, Woolloomooloo, Miller's Point, Pyrmont, and Ultimo):—Lieutenant-Colonel W. K. S. M'Kenzie.

29th Infantry Regiment (Balmain, Rozelle, Forest Lodge, and Glebe).—Major Dowsett.

31st Infantry Regiment (Leichhardt, Annandale, Five Dock, Drummoyne, and Haberfield).—Major Gallagher.

B Squadron, Australian Light Horse (Canterbury and Dapto), Captain Shillington.

8th Army Service Corps (West Sydney).

8th Army Medical Corps (city).

The remainder of the 26th Infantry Regiment (Redfern and Surry Hills), Lt.-Col. M'Laurin has been mobilised, and will be stationed at various posts. About 120 men from the 26th are already stationed at the Hawkesbury. It will be remembered that the 25th Regiment were the old Scottish Rifles, the 29th were the Australian Rifles, and the 31st were the St. George's Rifles while some of the old Scottish were drafted into the new 26th Regiment. But most of the old volunteers have dropped out, and the regiments are now purely territorial.

As there are very few German warships in the South Pacific, this is only a precautionary mobilisation, and no general mobilisation is anticipated by the military authorities. The 8th Brigade will assemble at Randwick.

Gunner Bellchambers, an ex-member of the Royal Australian Garrison Artillery, visited the barracks, and on hearing the war news dropped dead from heart failure. He left the artillery a few years ago on account of ill-health.

Last night additional men from the Australian Engineers were sent to South Head to assist in working the lights in connection with the examination of shipping and coast defence.

All camps and schools of instruction have been postponed.

The Royal Australian Garrison Artillery is calling for 50 recruits. Applications must be made to the Staff Officer, Captain McDonald, at South Head.

THE CENSOR.

Every possible effort is being made by the military authorities to minimise the inconvenience to business people and the press in connection with the censorship of cables. Col. Wilson, A.I.C., and staff are working hard so as to cause the least possible delay in the delivery of cable messages. Two additional officers of the Australian Intelligence Corps have been appointed to assist Col. Wilson.

FORTS MANNED.

Every one of the forts in the neighbourhood of the metropolis and Newcastle has been brought up to the maximum strength. The guns are manned. Guards have been posted at all the strategic points round the metropolis.

Lieut.-Col. Petersen, Director of Physical Training, yesterday saw Col. Wallack, State Commandant, and offered the services of his private physical training staff to give instruction to the citizen forces. The offer was cordially received, and in the event of an expeditionary force being despatched, it is probable that Lt.-Col. Petersen's offer will be availed of to give special physical training to the contingent.

NAVAL FORCES.

The citizens' naval forces will be called out to-day for a precautionary mobilisation. There will be the Reserve M (Naval Brigade), and the Reserve O (Citizen Trainees), in all about 300 strong.

A small detachment of the naval forces, with a few patrol boats, is stationed at Broken Bay, at the mouth of the Hawkesbury.

With regard to the mobilisation of the 8th Infantry Brigade, it is notified that the 26th Battalion of Infantry will fall in at Victoria Barracks at 7 o'clock this morning.

A SOLID EMPIRE.

SPEECH BY THE GOVERNOR.

A speech was delivered by the Governor, Sir Gerald Strickland, at a banquet tendered the Judges of the High Court and the Supreme Court of New South Wales at the Town Hall last night.

Responding to the toast of his health, proposed by the Lord Mayor, his Excellency said: "That the Lord Mayor of Sydney should have convened this gathering simultaneously with the topic uppermost in our minds is purely accidental; but the accident is conducive to the fulfilment of the most important of the duties entrusted to the chief magistrate of the city of Sydney. That is, the inspiration of confidence when that inspiration is useful. The Lord Mayor is doing now what was done in Brussels shortly before the victory of Waterloo." (Great cheering.) The tension was so great on that evening that the Duke of Wellington, appreciative of the ball as a means of inspiring confidence, gradually told off his officers one by one to leave and take up the duties to prepare for the field of battle. This restoration is not so necessary on this occasion because we are absolutely confident of victory. (Tumultuous cheering.) The Duke of Wellington was not, and he did not, pretend to be. The Lord Mayor of Sydney was restoring confidence in some old women who were drawing deposits on the savings banks. (Laughter.)

"To-day, between 12 o'clock and 1, I received an official intimation from the Governor-General that the Empire was at war," added his Excellency. "It was carefully couched in terms which indicated that the Empire was not the aggressor. (Hear, hear.)

"It is no secret to well-informed people that the Power with which we are at war has been seeking domination and aggression for years. (Cheers.) The series of incidents, which was not expected three days ago, seems to combine to give sure relief to the Powers which were seeking development of their interests, progress, and commerce by fair means, as against a Power which sought advancement by the aid of an iron mailed fist, and with no consideration for international law or any other law." (Cheers.)

His Excellency went on to say that, according to the text-books of strategy, an attacking force had to be two and a half times bigger than the attacked party, in order to be successful. Our enemy was not two and a half times stronger in numbers; it was not stronger to any extent. (Applause.) Moreover, to-day the difficulties of an aggressive force were incomparably more than they were a generation ago. The development of aeronautics, modern guns, high explosives, and so forth were all on the side of defence. Let us feel that Providence is on the side of the big battalions, and that the big battalions are with us. (Loud cheers.) The end of this war, added his Excellency, would see a great solidarity of the Empire—(cheers)—and he would not be satisfied if it were carried out on military or political lines. In any supreme tribunal that was appointed he would like to see a representative of the High Court of the great dominions permanently a member of it. That tribunal could be called a judicial committee, a House of Lords, or anything else. He hoped it would be formed on a basis of absolute equality. He looked forward to this war ushering in long days of peace, and he left the determination of the war in the hands of our brave soldiers and sailors. (Applause.)

The Chief Justice of the Commonwealth (Sir Samuel Griffith) responded to the toast of the High Court of Australia.

The Chief Justice of New South Wales (Sir William Cullen) responded to the toast of the New South Wales Supreme Court, proposed by Mr. S. Hordern.

WAR FEVER.

GERMAN FLAG TORN DOWN

ON S.S. GERMANIA.

A regrettable incident took place on the German Island trader Germania, now lying at No. 10 Brown's Wharf, Woolloomooloo Bay, yesterday afternoon, when the German national flag was torn down, trampled on, and stolen.

The Germania arrived from Hongkong, via the islands, on Thursday last, and was badly damaged in a typhoon. The work of repairs was being carried out, as well as the discharging and loading of cargo. At noon, the wharf-labourers were knocked off, the agents having received notice to stop work. It was intended to pull the steamer out from the wharf, and proceed to anchorage in Neutral Bay.

Whilst the German officers were engaged in getting the vessel ready at 5 o'clock a number of men, said to be engaged in the work of repairs, went aft, but the halyards, and hauled down the German national flag, which was flying from the stern. They trampled on it, then cut it up, and left. The officers were incensed at the act, and the captain immediately telephoned the police, but the men had got safely away with the flag.

"This is not all that we have to complain of," said one of the officers. "Since Saturday night we have not been able to go ashore. We went ashore on that night, and were mobbed by a number of larrikins, who stoned us, and who called us every filthy name they could think of."

To prevent any further disturbance a special police patrol has been provided wherever there is a German vessel in port.

OFFERS OF HELP.

RIFLE CLUB'S OFFER.

At the monthly meeting of the council of the National Rifle Association last night Colonel Wallack, State Military Commandant, and the president of the body, attended and addressed the members briefly.

Lieutenant H. E. Mills moved, and it was carried:—"That this council offer the services of its members to the military authorities to assist in training members of any expeditionary force which may be enrolled in the use of the rifle."

Mr. E. J. Brown, who seconded the motion, said that all members of rifle clubs would be only too glad to assist. The country riflemen especially could render great service to the Empire. That had been proved in South Africa. There were no finer soldiers than these men, who were inured to hardships, and he was sure that when called upon they could be relied upon to roll up in force to the colours. (Applause.)

Before Colonel Wallack left to attend another engagement three hearty cheers were given for the King.

INUNDATED WITH APPLICANTS.

The Automobile Corps, with headquarters at Challis House, has been inundated with applications for service from every class of motor car owner, while many spirited young men are seeking to join the force permanently.

Captain C. E. Waters, the commanding officer, yesterday stated that the corps was at full strength and ready at any moment to work under orders in its allotted sphere. The establishment consisted of 20 officers and an almost unlimited number of automobiles. Letters had literally been pouring into headquarters from citizen volunteers in the shape of doctors, architects, lawyers, and big city merchants. The first application was from Mr. Sam. Hordern, who had offered himself and his cars for active service.

CITY COUNCIL'S HELP.

The following message was, after consideration by the finance committee of the council, telegraphed by the Lord Mayor (Alderman Richards) to the Prime Minister of the Commonwealth last evening:—"The City Council of Sydney offers to you any facilities the city can afford to expedite or further any desires that the Commonwealth Government may wish to be put into effect. Awaiting your commands."

RED CROSS SOCIETY.

Unity was the keynote of all the speakers who took part in the meeting of Girl Aids and the Red Cross League held at Cranbrook yesterday. Lady Edeline Strickland, who was in the chair, personally urged the speakers to keep in view that great object. In placing the Red Cross Society on a Federal basis, which it was decided to do, all the speakers made it clear that clashing of interests between various societies having the same object would be fatal to that efficiency which alone can make the work of army nursing, and all that is understood by the words "Red Cross" work, of the highest service to the men whom it is meant to benefit.

Miss Margaret Windeyer urged the organisation of all the existing bodies into a united whole under Federal control.

The State Governor, attended by General Finn, was present part of the time. Among those in the room were Miss Strickland, the Lady Mayoress, Dr. Constance D'Arcy, Mrs. Barff, Mrs. Thomas Hughes, Head Deaconess Pallister, Lady Fairfax, Lady Hay, Mrs. J. B. Christian, Mesdames G. Lane Mullens, Herring, Roth, Dudley Braham, Thornett, Langer Owen, G. Wesche, Finn, Maughan, St. George, Liebius, Shaw, Paul, Thompson, G. Earp, Misses Birch, Sutton, Roth, M'Carthy, and Birch.

AUSTRALIAN WEATHER.

THE "HERALD" MAP.

The high pressure since Tuesday has expanded considerably, and now extends from New Zealand well to the west of Perth. The centre has shifted from the eastern districts of New South Wales to the southern goldfields of Western Australia, and maintains the same barometric values, viz.—30.5 inches.

The monsoonal dips which were in evidence on Tuesday have now practically disappeared, while the Antarctic disturbance has advanced northwards, and is at present very energetic over Tasmania, where it is resulting in strong westerly gales.

Fine weather may be expected generally, with the exception of a few showers on the south-western slopes.

Ocean Forecasts.—Boisterous westerly winds and rough around Tasmania and over the Tasman Sea; smooth to moderate elsewhere.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

FINANCIAL.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

No "calls" were held at the Sydney Stock Exchange yesterday. It has not yet been decided as to what course will be followed in future, but some suspension is likely. Members of the Exchange are not very unanimous as to the wisdom of closing. It would seem, however, that till we get more accustomed to the existing state of war it would be undesirable to give speculators an opportunity of playing havoc with the security market.

FRUIT EXCHANGE.

The report of the New South Wales Fruit Exchange covers the year ended June 30, and shows a profit of £2512, as against £2471 last year. During the year £750 has been paid off the mortgage to the Perpetual Trustee Company, leaving a balance of £6250. The year's operations warrant the directors in recommending the payment of a dividend for the half-year at the rate of 7½ per cent. per annum, and also a bonus of 3d per share, which together will absorb £1733. Messrs. J. A. Morehouse and A. Terrey were re-elected directors, and Messrs. H. A. Hinton and H. W. F. Rogers auditors. The meeting closed by a motion by Mr. M. N. Walters being carried, "That an honorarium of £25 be voted to Mr. T. Jessep for his services as chairman of the company."

AUTOMATIC TELEPHONES.

The meeting of Automatic Telephones (Australia), Ltd., was held yesterday. The report and balance-sheet, which have already been published, were adopted, and a dividend of 7½ per cent. declared. The chairman, Mr. J. B. Nicholson, stated that contracts were in hand which would keep the company busy for at least six months, and possibly 12. He did not know how the war would affect the business, but he had not much fear regarding it. The company had tenders extending over a number of exchanges. In Victoria and South Australia the position was that competitors of the company had been given a couple of small contracts. Geelong and Brighton Exchanges in Victoria were under the company's system, and the question was whether the department in Melbourne would mix up the systems or stick to the one which had proved its worth. There would be a very small saving financially, and, in addition, the other systems were only in an experimental stage—they could not be introduced solely into any big city.

In New South Wales, said Mr. Nicholson, the company had contracts for 2500 lines at Mosman; 2000 at Ashfield; 1500 at Burwood; 1500 at Randwick; 1000 at Parramatta; 800 at Homebush; 500 at Lidcombe; and 400 at Watson's Bay. The freedom from trouble on the company's system was largely due to the efficient staff of engineers.

Mr. Nicholson recently made a contract in Chicago for a supply of instruments which has yet nine years to run.

COMMONWEALTH BANK.

The transactions of the savings branch of the Commonwealth Bank of Australia for the week ended August 3 and to date have been as follows:—

Deposits	£163,979	£9,361,238
Withdrawals	115,207	4,491,862

Depositors' aggregate balances on August 1 totalled £4,869,376, against £2,912,664 last year.

COMMERCIAL.

THE MARKETS.

All markets yesterday were in an extremely disturbed position, and prices were irregular, but throughout the tendency was still upward. Merchants thought of little else than conserving their stocks. A number of cables were received yesterday, but they were, with few exceptions, dated Monday.

In grocery lines there was no extensive change, but it was expected that the position would develop to-day. Some lines were short, and these, of course, would be the first to feel any change.

In the tea market vendors held successfully for prices which would cover costs. About 1200 packages of tea changed hands, including 1000 Ceylons. Blenders, however, were still of opinion that they need not operate extensively, as with the tea which would be thrown on the Indian and Ceylon markets prices must come down. The position depends entirely upon freight being available, and the price. As showing how freight would be affected a cable was received that it was believed that, on the declaration of war, steamers would keep to their ports. Calcutta and Colombo sales are postponed indefinitely.

Further advances took place in oils yesterday. Linseed oil went up 3d per gallon to 4/ and 4/2 for raw and boiled of first brands. Champion's whitelead advanced £7 a ton to £49, and other brands were quoted at £48. Turpentine was 3d per gallon dearer, Pratt's 3/7½, Pinetree 3/6. All these quotations were for the day only, and orders were subject to stocks being available. Merchants manifested some anxiety as to stocks of kerosene and other petroleum products. It was stated from authoritative sources that there need be no fear of any immediate shortage, and that with stocks in hand and supplies on the water there was sufficient to last for a few months. It may be assured that, with the competition which exists among the importers, there will not be for the present any great change in prices.

In metal lines the prices of Tuesday generally held. In some quarters galvanised iron was quoted at an advance of £4 a ton on prices ruling last week, but generally the distributing houses were content to quote the £2 advance, made by the importers—Redcliffe being quoted at £20/5/ per ton.

In jute lines no forward selling was done by the trade. Spot lots only were dealt in. Branbags had sales at 5/6 net. Woolpacks sold at 3/6, less discount. Cornsacks, on spot, were irregular, sales being made up to 1/ net. There were country resellers of lots for season's delivery at 6 7½ net.

THE IMPORT OF CORNSACKS.

A cable received from Calcutta yesterday stated: "Cannot arrange war risks here; buyers must arrange for this." This affects cornsacks especially, which should be here by November. There is, too, the further matter of finance, of payment in Calcutta. These matters will probably be laid before the Government in order that it might see whether some action could not be taken to ensure the shipment of the sacks for the harvest.

TO-DAY'S HOMEBUSH OFFERINGS.

The number of sheep and of cattle listed for to-day's sales in the Homebush yards is as follows:—

Sheep (including lambs)	34,861
Cattle (including calves)	2,512

The amount of wool manifested to arrive at Darling Harbour yesterday totalled [illegible] bales.

BREADSTUFFS.

MARKET AGAIN WEAKER.

Wheat suffered a further slight relapse yesterday. There were plenty of sellers of old wheat at 4/3, but buyers were few, and those prepared to operate quoted 4/2. A sale was made at the latter quotation. As far as new wheat was concerned, shippers have withdrawn from the market. There were sellers at 3/11. Cables received were of Monday's date, and declared the London market to be stagnant.

Flour was quoted at £10, with re-sellers at £9/2/6. Bran and pollard were steady at £5 5/.

BAKERS AND FLOUR.

Mr. E. M'Causland, president of the Master Bakers' Association, writes:—

Sir,—I quote the following paragraph from your comments in to-day's (August 5) issue on the breadstuffs position: "Flour was nominally £10, but it was more than ever apparent that this price had been made to suit the bakers." Will you please state whom you thus accuse of playing into the bakers' hands: (1) The farmers in asking more for their wheat; (2) the wheat holders or speculators in asking a price which they think they can get by exporting; or (3) the millers for putting up the price of flour to a price based on what they have now to pay for grain? I would like to state right here, on behalf of the Master Bakers' Association, that we repudiate the accusation in any shape or form, and feel that a journal of your standing should be able to substantiate such an accusation before making it in such plain terms.

I want also to state now that our association has not at any time, either directly or indirectly, approached any other party interested in breadstuffs, nor have individual members or officials done so. We feel that such a statement coming at this juncture is most unfortunate, if not worse.

The press and others are always insinuating that the forward method of buying and selling wheat and flour is detrimental to the public interest, as reflected in the price of bread.

Is it unreasonable to ask you if the public are not benefiting just now by the system. It must be apparent that under a system of hand to mouth buying and selling, the price of bread would before now have been raised, whereas our association has so far not even considered the question. It also means that, had the millers no stocks to work on, such a crisis as the present one would have led to wild scrambling for grain, and higher values locally than might be obtainable outside.

The buying forward of wheat and flour by a genuine buyer for use should not be detrimental to the public interest. The present price of bread was fixed in May, 1912, when flour was £9/15/ a ton, the rise being a farthing a 2lb loaf. The bakers declared their justification to be the increase in the price of flour made by the millers, yet as we stated in our comments on the report of the Royal Commissioner on Foodstuffs it is notorious that in 1912 the bakers bought for all through the year at £8/10/ and £8/15/ per ton. At the commencement of 1913 the association price of wheat fell to £8/10/, and bakers again bought their supplies for the year at that price. Yet though the raising of the price of bread to /3½ a 2lb loaf was excused in May, 1912, because of an increase of £1 a ton in flour, yet when flour was reduced £1 a ton there was not even a whisper of the bread being reduced. Up to May last flour continued at a cheap rate, still the price of bread remained at the price fixed in May, 1912, and the bakers are still working, and, we are assured on good authority, will continue till the new season to work, on flour costing not £10 but £8/10/ per ton. With these facts before him, can Mr. M'Causland say that the public benefits by a reduction in the price of flour? No one imagines that the bakers deliberately ask the millers to put up prices, but competition among millers for bakers' custom is exceptionally keen, because the State is overmilled, and it rejoices the baker to find flour advancing when he is well bought.

At Darling Harbour yesterday 1232 tons of wheat and 185 tons of flour were manifested to arrive.

INTERSTATE MARKETS.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

Wheat transactions were made at 4/6, but the bulk of the buyers hesitate to operate; flour, £10; bran, £6; pollard, £6/5/; barley, English malting 5/ to 5/7½. Cape 2/3 to 2/6; oats, firmer, with active inquiry, Algerians 2/6 to 2/8½; maize firmer, 4/; chaff firm, £3/12/6, £4; manger hay, £4/10/ to £5; straw, Victorian, £1/12/6 to £1/15/, ex rail; Tasmanian, £2/15/ to £3/2/6, ex wharf; potatoes, firmer, Carmens £5/5/ to £5/10/; Snowflakes, £5 to £5/5/; onions, steady, £6/5/ to £6/10/. Tea excited; sales include over 1000 packages of Ceylons. All imported groceries booming. Cream of tartar cannot be bought on the market. Houses are curtailing orders from retailers.

Prices in the metropolitan meat market for the past week were:—Beef, prime bodies, 30/ to 32/ per 100lb, medium 28/; prime forequarters 28/ to 30/, medium 27/; prime hindquarters, 34/ to 36/, medium 32/; sheep, prime /3½ to /3¾ per lb, medium /3; lambs, prime 12/ to 14/, medium 9/ to 11/; veal, prime large vealers, /3½ to /3¾ per lb, medium /2½ to /3; prime small vealers 3½ to /4, medium /3; prime small calves, /2½ to /2¾, medium /2½.

ADELAIDE, Wednesday.

All markets are at a standstill, and prices are purely nominal. For wheat, growers' lots were quoted at 3/11. Merchants indicate a willingness to deal with individual inquiries as they arise, but will not make any effort to force up prices on account of the European war. Flour, for export was quoted at £9/17/6 to £10 f.o.b.; bakers' lots, delivered, £9/5/ to £9/10/; bran and pollard, 1/4 to 1/5 delivered city; oats, 2/4 f.o.b. Hay, owing to seasonal influences, has risen to 62/6. Chaff was quoted at 70/, trucks, Mile End, exclusive of bags, 90/ to 95/ f.o.b., bags included; cornsacks, 6/7½ on spot; branbags, 5/1½ to 5/3; potatoes, old, £6 to £7 in the market, new to £12; onions, £7/10/ to £8.

MINING.

STOCK EXCHANGE OPEN, BUT IDLE.

QUESTION OF CLOSING CONSIDERED.

DECISION EXPECTED TO-DAY.

The war hangs like a nightmare over the Sydney Stock Exchange. The members met yesterday morning to consider the question of closing. It was decided not to do anything in the matter, but to adjourn the meeting to this morning at 10.30. It was further decided to allow settlements to be effected. It was stated that during the afternoon the committee of the Stock Exchange had a conference on the subject with the committee of the Bankers' Association, and will report the result to the members of the Stock Exchange at this morning's meeting.

The Broken Hill Block 14 Company, for the week ended August 1, despatched 300 tons of carbonates, assaying 25.14 per cent. lead and 14oz silver, also 1000 tons of sulphides.

During the fortnight ended July 29, the mill of the Block 14 Torrington Company treated 1520 tons of crude ore, assaying 0.32 per cent. wolfram, and 0.055 per cent. bismuth, for 5 tons 17cwt of concentrates, assaying 66.26 p.c. wolfram, and 3.58 per cent. bismuth. In addition, 1 ton of concentrates of the same grade was produced from accumulated residues.

In the fortnight ended August 1 the plant of the Tewksbury Proprietary Araluen Company won 183oz gold, whilst that of the Victorian-Araluen Dredging Company recovered 80oz during the same fortnight.

Operations at the Tyrconnell gold mine (Q.), during the fortnight ended July 25, show that the south winze from the 150ft level was sunk to 10ft, and shows a 3ft reef, worth 2oz to the ton. The north and south drives at the 200ft level are looking well, the reef in each end being 8ft wide, and highly payable. During the period dealt with the battery crushed 218 tons of ore for 219oz of gold, this being exclusive of concentrates and tailings. The quantity of concentrates on hand was increased to 9 tons, of an average assay value of 5½oz of gold per ton.

The manager of the Iodide (Mineral Hill), Ltd., reports for the week ending August 1 as follows:—"No. 3 shaft down 282ft (91ft below No. 2 level), in sandstone, and timbered to 276ft."

MAMMOTH COPPER MINE, LIMITED.

The following is a copy of mine manager's progress report for the period ended the second half of July:—

Chieftain.—No. 3 level: South drive advanced 21ft 6in, total 330ft. Width ore body exposed, 2ft, assaying 6 per cent. copper, 8oz silver, 1dwt gold per ton. Ore still extending into hanging wall.

North drive.—Advanced 9ft, total 120ft. Width ore body exposed 8ft, assaying 12 per cent. copper, 6oz silver, 1dwt gold per ton. Similar ore extending into hanging wall.

No. 2 level.—East crosscut advanced 12ft 3in, total 194ft. Expect cut ore body within the next 10ft. Stoping has been carried on at No. 2 level, and No. 3 level, producing 100 tons of ore daily. Expect this will be increased within the next period.

Clansman.—Commenced running the filling from the stopes above highest level. This filling is oxidised ore, and assays 6.8 per cent. copper, 2½oz silver, 5dwt gold per ton.

Treatment plant.—Expect to have 1½ working within a week, providing higher smelting grade ore. Furnace in blast 22 days, smelted 1386 tons Chieftain, and 93 tons oxidised ore. Produced 327 tons matte, containing 112 tons copper, 98oz gold, 5396oz silver.

BANKING.

ANOTHER QUIET DAY.

As far as the ordinary banks are concerned, there was very little to distinguish yesterday from any other day. Business was conducted quietly, and on quite normal lines. Some deposits were made, other customers withdrew portion of the funds which the banks held for them, and, of course, the usual volume of cheques was cleared between the various banking institutions of the State. On the side of accommodation, naturally, the banks exercised an extreme caution. They would not see old customers placed in an invidious position, but they would not entertain proposals for new business at the moment. Rates, both on the side of deposits and on the side of overdrafts, remained for the time being without change. Australian bankers for a while at least will be a law unto themselves. They will do everything possible to conserve the best interests of their depositors, of their shareholders, and more particularly of the community at large.

At the savings banks a much quieter tone prevailed. There were certainly some depositors who desired to see their gold. But the number was not nearly so large as during the previous day, and those few who crowded round the back entrance wore a half-ashamed look.

SAVING BANK DEPOSITORS.

Attention is drawn by the Metropolitan Superintendent of Police to the absurdity of people drawing their deposits from the State Savings Bank. A number of instances have been reported to him where people have drawn their money, and the same night have had it stolen from their homes.

THE ELECTIONS.

POSTPONEMENT PROPOSED.

"ONLY ONE PARTY."

The uselessness of expecting to get anything like an adequate reflex of public opinion on political questions just now seems to have become quite apparent; and it is generally thought that the next day or two will see an agreement between the Federal Liberal and Labour parties to call a truce. It is no time for a political contest. There are no divided parties in Australia at present. There is only one great patriotic party of national union and solidarity; and for many and obvious reasons party strife must for the present be relegated to the background. It can scarcely be doubted that this fact is realised by the two leaders, Mr. Cook and Mr. Fisher, and it goes without saying that the rank and file will follow their lead in arranging a modus vivendi. The public is at present in no frame of mind for an election; and it may be said also that the candidates themselves are in no frame of mind for it. The war in which Australia, as part of the British Empire, is now engaged in is too disturbing a factor to make a general election possible. That, at all events, appears to be the general opinion of the public.

P.L.L. DECISION.

A special meeting of the executive of the P.L.L. was held yesterday afternoon, and it was suggested that Mr. Fisher and Mr. Hughes should approach the Prime Minister with a suggestion that the Liberal party should withdraw all Liberal nominees against sitting Labour members, and in this event all Labour nominees against sitting Liberal members should be withdrawn. The Parliament would thus be left as it was before the dissolution, and could then deal with the present crisis.

THE FIRST WITHDRAWAL.

The Prime Minister is not to be opposed for the Parramatta seat. When the executive of the P.L.L. met yesterday Mr. Von Hagen said a position had arisen in which he felt he should consult the executive as to his candidature. In the special circumstances created by war, he felt that the executive should consider whether the Prime Minister should not be free from the necessity of contesting an election. After discussion, it was decided to request the Parramatta branch of the P.L.L. to agree to Mr. Von Hagen's withdrawal, and at the same time the executive recorded its high appreciation of Mr. Von Hagen's patriotic action in the matter.

At a meeting of the Parramatta Branch League last night, Mr. J. Grant, general secretary of the P.L.L., placed the executive's decision before the members, and the decision was endorsed.

LIBERALS WILL FOLLOW.

It was stated by a prominent member of the Liberal party last night that there was no question about the withdrawal of the candidates selected to contest the seats held by Labour representatives. We may, therefore, expect to see the Federal Parliament sitting again next week, possibly on Monday.

W. FARMER WHYTE, 38 Hunter-street.

NOMINATIONS TO-MORROW.

Mr. J. G. M'Laren, Chief Electoral Officer, stated last evening that as far as he knew the declaration of war would not interfere with the receipt of nominations for the Senate and House of Representatives, which would take place to-morrow, as advertised. Asked if he had received any official intimation as to whether the nominations would be received as originally decided upon, he said that he had not, consequently the date would remain unaltered. The time, he remarked, was drawing near, and in order to now cancel things they would have to resort to extraordinary means.

FOODSTUFFS.

HOW WAR WILL AFFECT PRICES

LOWER—NOT HIGHER.

Many people have become imbued with the idea that war will cause a smart advance in the price of foodstuffs, but from information collected yesterday it would appear that this assumption is incorrect. Prices, instead of advancing, are in many instances likely to decline.

"If the present situation lasts for any length of time," said Mr. Stuart Harvey, of Robert Little and Co., "prices for all descriptions of produce will receive a heavy set-back. The opening of hostilities means the closing of the principal markets to Australian produce. For a certain time, no doubt, the owners of the various descriptions of produce, farm, dairy, sheep, and cattle, will be able to hold, but it is certain that as the days go by large parcels which are usually exported will be placed on the market with the inevitable result that values will rapidly fall."

Modern commerce is largely conducted on the credit system, and if this is destroyed it will be utterly impossible to continue the export trade of Australia. The present situation is unique, in so far that practically the whole world is at war. If financial arrangements between Australia and the United Kingdom cannot be maintained on a satisfactory basis, it is not likely that Australian exporters will ship butter or meat to London, and draw on the consignees, with the problematical chance of the consignee being in a position to meet his engagements when the goods are delivered in the United Kingdom two months later. And, if the meat and butter and other produce is not shipped to oversea markets, it will, after the elapse of a certain time, have to be placed on the already fully supplied local market.

Yesterday there was almost a total absence of commercial cablegrams from the United Kingdom. Cables despatched from Sydney on Monday have apparently not yet reached their destination, as no replies have been received. The export markets were still further upset by reason of the British Government having declared Tuesday and Wednesday bank holidays, in addition to Monday. It was consequently impossible for Australian firms to ascertain whether English connections were still in a position to obtain finance. In the absence of news business was absolutely paralysed, and must apparently remain so until cable communication is again restored.

"So far as imported lines of groceries are concerned," said Mr. McIlrath, of McIlrath's, Ltd., yesterday, "prices are in some instances certain to advance. Generally speaking, however, I do not think there is any occasion for alarm. In my opinion the British fleet will be victorious, in which case shipments from England will speedily be resumed."

VICTORIAN PREMIER'S THREAT.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

"I noticed a statement in the press today to the effect that the price of flour has been raised without justification," said the Premier (Sir Alexander Peacock) this afternoon. "My comment on that is that this is an hour when the public expects its citizens to be patriotic, and when no man should take advantage of the needs of the nation to line his own pockets and increase his profits. If the Ministry find that any thing of this sort is taking place we will take prompt action to prevent it. We will not allow anybody to unduly raise the price of the necessities of life. These are days when each and every one of us must share the responsibilities of citizenship, but it would be outrageous for any man to take advantage of such a crisis to enhance his profits."

J. Enright held his fortnightly sale of horses at Maitland on the 30th ult. Messrs. Bowman Bros., jun.'s draughts, from Strowan, sold to £46, and light horses to £27/10/; Mr. Thos. Bowra's draughts sold to £47, and averaged £42/11; Mr. W. Scott's (Narrabri) draughts sold to £45; Mr. A. L. Stacy's (Singleton) draughts sold to £40; Mr. James Cowan's to £35/10/. A total of 292 horses was sold, averaging £17.—Advt.

POLO.

QUIRINDI CARNIVAL.

SYDNEY BEATS SCONE.

QUIRINDI, Wednesday.

The semi-finals for the Northern Challenge Cup were played off at Quirindi to-day, and the polo displayed was a long way superior to that of the two previous days. Sydney beat Scone after a stubborn tussle by 7 goals to 5; but there was very little between the teams. The metropolitan team played together finely, and deserve every credit for their good win. The second game, between Muswellbrook A and B teams, provided one of the greatest contests yet seen at Quirindi, and roused the spectators to great enthusiasm. It was expected that the A team would overmatch the colts, but those closely in touch with both teams were not surprised at the brilliant showing of the B team. The sympathy of the crowd was mainly with the junior team, and when they secured a fine lead of 7 to 3 in the fifth period the excitement was intense; and it was just before the final bell that the senior men drew level, and an extra period was ordered. Nearly ten minutes elapsed before Pearse hit the winning goal. In the extra period, Mr. Reg White, the captain of the B team, received a nasty blow on the head from a ball, which knocked him out temporarily, and after that he was hardly as reliable as in the earlier stages of the game. In the beaten teams' matches, Denison Town beat Moree by 9 goals 10 behinds to 2 goals 8 behinds. Tamarang beat Glen Innes by 6 goals 8 behinds to 4 goals; and Castlereagh beat Mindaribba by 6 goals 7 behinds to 4 goals 3 behinds.

SYDNEY v SCONE.

Sydney: Mr. A. W. Turnbull (back), Mr. Clem Withycombe, capt., (3), Mr. E. W. Garvan (2), Mr. K. G. Richards (1). Scone: Mr. M. Crosby (back), Mr. Arthur Davies, capt. (3), Mr. Jack Davies (2), Mr. Eric Mackellar (1).

Sydney rushed away from the throw-in, and scored a goal immediately. Each defence was sound, but just before the final bell Garvan made a great run over three-quarters of the ground, and scored a goal. There was no score in the second period, which was fast. In the third period, after some heavy scrummage work, Sydney forced the ball through the posts, then the Sydney captain with a powerful drive made an opening for Richards, who raised the red flag. Ball, cannoning off his pony through the posts. Scone brightened up considerably in the fourth period, but could not score. Turnbull, with a solid drive, sent to Withycombe, who backed the ball through the posts. In the fifth period, Scone continually attacked, and after a lofty drive by Crosby, had just missed, some combined work ended in a goal, and immediately afterwards clever play by Jack Davies gave Scone another goal. Just before the bell, Mackellar, who played a particularly fine game throughout, scored with a beautiful shot. Sydney dashed to attack in the sixth period, but a great drive by Crosby relieved, but in making the stroke, his mallet whipped up smartly, and, striking him on the side of the head, knocked him out temporarily. Sydney then scored two more goals, the second being a rather lucky one. A great shot by Garvan travelled to front of the goal, and in endeavouring to clear, Arthur Davies chopped the ball on to his pony, and it cannoned through the goal. The final period was very fast, and Scone added two more goals, but left their dash rather late. Jack Davies broke away and travelled nearly the length of the ground, up the side line, and with a well-timed shot he placed in front of the posts for Mackellar, who registered a goal, and made the final scores:—Sydney, 7 goals, 11 behinds; Scone, 5 goals, 14 behinds.

MUSWELLBROOK A v MUSWELLBROOK B.

Muswellbrook A: Mr. D. M. Bell (back), Mr. Harold White, capt. (3), Mr. Bruce White (2), Mr. A. Pearse (1). Muswellbrook B: Mr. Reg. White, capt. (back), Mr. Roy Bell (3), Mr. Fred. Bell (2), Mr. Ned White (1).

After some even play, Ned White dashed away, and made a fine opening, and Reg White scored, with a shot from 50 yards out. The B team had much the better of matters, and a great back-hander by Reg. White sent to Roy Bell, and an excellent goal was the result. A team scored at the opening of the second period, Bruce White breaking through, and D. M. Bell equalised scores after Pearse had placed well for him. But B team soon regained the lead. Fred. Bell and Ned White took the ball well down field, and Roy Bell raised the red flag with a splendid shot. The A team now made combined attack, and from a scrum in front of goal Pearse scored. Fred. Bell made an opening for Ned White, who scored. Excitement now ran high. The B team seemed to have the game well in hand in the fifth period, as Reg. White put in a splendid run, and after two good attempts had been blocked by ponies, Ned White hit a goal. Then Fred. Bell back-handed a splendid goal amid great applause. The B team were now leading by 7 goals to 3, but in the sixth period the trend of play changed. A team added 3 goals, one by D. M. Bell being a particularly fine effort. In the final period both sides strained every nerve, the polo being fast and brilliant. At last D. M. Bell broke through, and, scoring cleverly, made the totals equal. An extra period was, therefore, necessary, and was contested at high speed, and the game ended by Pearse back-handing a great goal. The final scores were: Muswellbrook A, 8 goals 13 behinds; Muswellbrook B, 7 goals 7 behinds.

OLYMPIC FUND MATCH.

NEW ZEALAND BEATS METROPOLITAN.

11 POINTS TO 6.

The unbeaten New Zealanders, who returned from Queensland on Monday, met a Metropolitan Fifteen at the Sports Ground yesterday afternoon, and defeated them by 11 points to 6 after a keen, hard struggle. The match was arranged for the purpose of raising funds for the next Olympic Games.

THE PLAY.

About a thousand spectators witnessed Fahey kick off for Metropolitan against the wind, which the New Zealanders made good use of by several times kicking high, and following fast.

The New Zealanders, Downing, Graham, and Irvine, were putting in some effective work from the line-outs, and frequently opened up play by their clever tactics. Baker caused the first real thrill of the match by coming away from a loose ruck at midfield and dribbling the ball finely to Cockroft, whom he also tackled.

Once Wilson made a very fine opening for Lynch, but the three-quarter was beaten by Carr.

Cockcroft and R. Roberts made two unsuccessful kicks at goal. Then Francis placed his side in a splendid position by some neat footwork.

The Blacks now registered the first score of the match from an exchange of passes by E. Roberts, M'Kenzie, Black, and Lynch, and the lastnamed got over. Graham failed to add the extras. New Zealand, 3 points to nil.

Downing, Murray, and Irvine headed a rush for the visitors, but George and Fahey came to the rescue with several resolute tackles. The game at this stage was interesting, and the resolute forward play of both teams was the outstanding feature.

The Metropolitan forwards were playing with great heart, and, although badly beaten on the line-outs, they frequently gained possession from the scrummages, and Wallach, Baker, and Fahey were playing a fine game. Fisher carried play well within Metropolitan's twenty-five, where E. Roberts got possession, and started a fine passing bout, which ended in R. Roberts scoring behind the posts. E. Roberts goaled. Half-time was soon afterwards called, with New Zealand 8 points to nil.

Metropolitan then showed a marked improvement, and their forwards not only proved masters of the scrummages, but their general loose play, too, was superior. However, their backs repeatedly let them down through faulty handling and weak combination. Cooney and Massey-Westropp opened up the play, which led to Baker racing over, and scoring for Metropolitan. Walker failed at goal. New Zealand, 8 points to 3. After several unsuccessful attacking movements, Massey-Westropp dashed over with a good try, which Cooney failed to convert.

The All Blacks now rallied, and E. Roberts made a brilliant run, passing to Taylor, who scored. E. Roberts badly missed the goal. New Zealand, 11 points; Metropolitan, 6. The game continued interesting and exciting till the end, but there was no further scoring. The teams were:—

New Zealand: Full-back, C. Cockroft; three-quarters, H. Taylor, R. Roberts, T. Lynch; five-eighths, J. M'Kenzie, R. Black; half-back, E. Roberts; forwards, R. Francis, J. Lindsay, J. Irvine, A. Downing, A. Wilson, A. Fisher, J. Graham, H. V. Murray (wing).

Metropolitan: Full-back, B. M. Beith; three-quarters, E. Carr, A. Morris, A. W. Prentice, M. Massey-Westropp; five-eighth, R. Walker; half-back, F. Wood; forwards, W. T. Watson, C. O'Donnell, H. George, E. Fahey, C. Wallach, H. Baker, F. Thompson, T. Cooney.

Referee, Mr. T. Pauling.

AUSTRALIAN FOOTBALL CARNIVAL.

NEW SOUTH WALES v QUEENSLAND.

In spite of the beautiful weather conditions, there was a very small attendance at Sydney Cricket Ground this afternoon, when the third annual carnival of the Australian Football Council was opened.

New South Wales, who lacked several of their best players, met Queensland in the opening match, but they proved far too clever for the representatives of the northern State.

Queensland got off the mark very quickly, and Duffy, who received in a good position from Cowley, scored a nice goal. Duffy followed this up with a behind, placing Queensland seven clear points ahead. New South Wales retaliated, and, after Harris had landed a good goal, Jackson made the scores equal with a fine shot, that struck the upright and fell behind. M'Cann added a goal for New South Wales, and then both sides scored behinds. Duffy, for Queensland, and M'Fadden, for New South Wales, scored behinds before the first interval. At quarter-time the scores were:—N.S.W., 2 goals 5 behinds—17 points; Queensland, 1 goal 3 behinds—9 points.

The home team attacked with the change over, Clarke scored a single, and M'Fadden a goal. A clever piece of play by Robertson and M'Cann brought a single. Then M'Fadden and Harris scored goals, and the visitors seemed all abroad. Another goal to Clarke, and half-time scores stood: New South Wales, 6-12; Queensland, 1-3.

Ellis was brought forward in New South Wales' third term. The quarter was all in favour of the home side. Clarke, Murphy, and Davis added goals, and Queensland failed to improve on their first quarter's performance. The three-quarter time scores were: New South Wales, 9-12; Queensland, 1-3. The Northerners improved slightly in the last spell. Beech secured a goal for them just after the bounce, but the home team once more took charge, and Murphy (2), M'Cann, and Davis added goals, New South Wales winning by 13 goals 15 behinds—93 points—to 2 goals 4 behinds—16 points. For the winners, Robertson played well, and was followed by Ratcliffe, Clark, M'Cann, M'Fadden, Baird, and M'Donald. For Queensland, Cowley, Duffy, and Jones played well. H. Crapp, of Western Australia, had charge of the whistle, and kept the game fast, but his interpretations were somewhat different to local fields, which nonplussed the players.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA v WESTERN AUSTRALIA.

The second game between South and Western Australia produced one of the best, if not the best, game in the Australian code seen in Sydney.

The final scores were:—South Australia, 12-16; Western Australia, 12-11.

Johns was the first to score a single for South Australia, then Tapping kicked two goals for Western Australia. Johns again scored another for South Australia, and Doig goaled for the Westerners. Fisher and M'Intosh put in some good work for Western Australia, but South pressed, and Barry scored another goal. Johns added another goal, which he followed with one more just before the quarter closed. Western Australia played the better football. West attacked, and Burns raised the two flags soon after the change over. Brilliant work by Oliver for South Australia enabled Dowling to goal, and Johns also goaled. Three singles increased their score, but their opponents were far from beaten. Youlden was prominent, and Truscott passed on to Sellars, who kicked a goal. Burns added a goal before South Australia came with a rush, and Magor and Dowling added goals. A free to Sellars (W.A.) went on to Robinson, but was blocked, but again came back to Sellars, who put the ball through. From the bounce, Tapping sent on to Smith, and again the Western Australian scored a goal, and at half-time had a nine-point lead.

Western Australia played two rovers after the interval, but this did not prevent their opponents from scoring. Lahy put up a goal, but Smith (W.A.), getting the ball from the centre, sent a running drop-kick through. Play went up and down the ground. Then Ashley, the ex-Sydney player, marked near the members' stand, and a long drop-kick went through Western Australia's goal, and the third spell ended with Western Australia just holding their own. Burns punted a goal through for Western Australia, but Golding equalled, obtaining six from a place-kick, and South Australia were drawing closer, amidst cheers from their supporters. Just on time they forged ahead, and, though Western Australia rallied grandly, they failed to gain lost ground, and lost by 5 points. Scores:—South Australia, 12-16; Western Australia, 12-11.

For the winners, Oliver, Mayman, Robertson, Golding played well; and for Western Australia, Smith, Tapping, Sellars, and Smith were the most prominent. J. Elder was the field umpire.

TO-DAY'S MATCHES.

The Victorians will make their first appearance against Tasmania to-day. The early match will be between the Victorian and Queensland schoolboys.

Y.M.C.A. v INVERELL.

This match was an early fixture at the Sydney Sports Ground. In the first half, Lake scored a try for Y.M.C.A., and Richards for Inverell. After the interval the countrymen gave a very bright exhibition. Tries were added by Wisdom and Starling, and Canadell kicked goals in each instance.

The final scores were:—Inverell, 13 points; Y.M.C.A., 3. Referee, Mr. O. Harding.

HURLSTONE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE v TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL.

Played as an extra early match at the Sydney Sports Ground, and won by Hurlstone by 9 points to 5.

AMUSEMENTS.

MR. ARNOLD MOTE'S RECITAL.

Mr. Arnold R. Mote, a Sydney musician who, during an absence of some years in England, has taken his Mus. Bac. both of Oxford and Durham universities, as well as his F.R.C.O. in London, gave an organ recital and concert at the Town Hall last night. As had been anticipated from his youthful successes before his departure, he has returned here a brilliantly accomplished player possessed of unusual executive facility and a general mastery of the resources of the instrument. One of Mr. Mote's finest efforts was his interpretation of Bach's "Toccato and Fugue in D Minor," with its tremendous pedal passages, and the wonderful scope for cumulative effects right up to a colossal termination in which the genius of the old Cantor taxes the executant to the uttermost. The artist was especially strong in the intricate pedal passages in the fugue which accompany the strenuous progress of the manual effects, and the heartiest applause followed the conclusion of the piece.

"TWILIGHT HOUSE" MATINEE.

This afternoon, at 4 o'clock, in the ballroom of Meriocla (lent for the occasion by Mrs. Arthur Allen), an entertainment will be given in aid of "The Twilight House." It will be attended by Lady Helen Munro Ferguson and Lady Edeline Strickland, and is being made a social event.

WAR RATES.

NO ADVICE IN SYDNEY.

The members of the Marine Underwriters' Association are anxiously awaiting advices from London. No rates have been advised since August 1. The position at Melbourne is equally unsatisfactory.

The representative of one of the principal companies, referring yesterday to war rates, said that "as far as we are concerned we know nothing officially regarding the war."

Mr. Mitchell, the chairman of the Marine Underwriters' Association, stated that he was depending on the Sydney press for information. "We have no rates, and we have received none since August 1," he said, "but we are expecting a cable hourly. We have telegraphed to Melbourne, and they know nothing. I sincerely hope that news will come to-morrow, as the news of England being at war alters matters considerably. We have to form our own judgment as to what is an adequate rate, but of course we are guided by London, and we do not wish to charge panic rates. As soon as definite advices arrive we will be in a position to give more satisfaction to our clients."

Questioned as to whether any business was being done, Mr. Mitchell said that there had been many inquiries, but not a great deal of business. "In a time of war scare," he concluded, "it is natural that people are not anxious to risk too much. That is way we are impatiently awaiting a cable. Where, or why, it is blocked I cannot understand."

STORE NEWS AT DAVID JONES'.

TO GUIDE THE MATRON AND THE MAID WHO WOULD A-SHOPPING GO, FOR THAT MOST DELECTABLE ARTICLE OF THE FEMININE ATTIRE,

THE SPRING HAT.

Every woman can rejoice this season, for the variety of shapes and styles are endless, and certainly a Hat will be found to exactly suit each face, charmingly becoming and yet—chic.
With the quaintly pretty styles of the Dresses of other days, the Piquant Dolly Varden Hats have come again, and there will at once endear themselves to the hearts of the womenfolk. One very pretty Hat of this type, has pinky coloured carnations gracefully scattered over the brim. Then there are the Plateau Hats, with their upward tilt and sauciness of line.

FLOWERS ARE VERY MUCH IN EVIDENCE. THERE ARE HATS THAT ARE "BRIM-FULL" AND OTHERS WITH HERE A FLOWER AND THERE A FLOWER TUCKED AWAY IN THE TWIST OF A BRIM, OR "EN MASSE" TO NESTLE IN GLOWING TONES AGAINST THE HAIR.

Straws have come again into prominence, and in a new guise. The Liserie is, perhaps, the most notable. This is a finely-woven straw, with a shiny black surface, very quaint in appearance. Then comes the Tagel and a crin as fine as tulle.

ALL WHITE HATS, PROMISE TO BE ONE OF THE MOST FAVOURED WHIMS OF FASHION. BLACK AND NAVY BLUE ARE ALSO VERY SMART, AND COMBINATIONS OF BLACK AND WHITE.

Little Wings perch here and there on some of the hats, and certainly a few owe their charming sauciness to them. One hat, a shiny black Liserie, is completely adorned with wings poised at odd angles.

THEN THERE IS THE TINY OBLONG CHAPEAU WORN ASLANT, AS, INDEED, ARE ALL THE TAILORED HATS OF THE SEASON.

Georgette has created a droopy oblong Hat of White Straw, wreathed with black oak leaves, while in the front bloom some ruddy tinted Zinnias.

JUST THE SWEETEST, DAINTIEST, LITTLE HATS WE ARE SHOWING FOR THE CHILDREN, IN DROOPY SHAPES OF STRAW AND FLORAL NINON, TRIMMED WITH RIBBONS AND MINIATURE FLOWERS.

SMART HATS READY TO WEAR, AT PRICES RANGING FROM 5/11 EACH.

Small Hats, droopy shapes, and straight sailors predominate, of fine chip, tagel, pedal, and Liserie straws, with bands of ribbon in contrasting or harmonising tones.
For the warmer days there are shady pandan and panama hats—Light, cool, and comfortable.

GREY HAIR.
REMEDY FOUND AT LAST.

To be done with hair dyes and stains—to be done with the eternal bother of doing this that and the other thing to the hair—to be done with the expense of trying but failing to hide your greyness—that, my reader, that is the blessing, the comfort, the great boon that Surmanol confers upon you. For Surmanol is the remedy for grey hair that has been discovered in England and which to-day is doing for thousands of Australian men and women folk what they never, never dreamed possible. It is banishing every trace of their greyness by causing the scalp to do its work properly—thoroughly. It is doing this in all cases, and with folk of all ages and no matter whether their greyness is caused by worry, shock, sickness, old age, or what not. "But," you exclaim, "Greyness is natural." Nonsense—nonsense. There are thousands of old gentlemen and old ladies right near you without a trace of greyness. Surmanol causes the colour glands in the scalp that supply the hair with its colour to become so strong and robust that they fill every grey thread once more with that strange, subtle, wonderful colour fluid that gives the hair its colour. As the colour fluid creeps back to the hair, so does the greyness creep silently away. In just a few weeks—presto—every trace of greyness is gone, and then, year in, year out, in sickness and in health, that greyness can never, never return. A few short weeks' use of Surmanol will banish the worst case of greyness. It is 5/ post free 5/6, from the Edgeworth Laboratories, Hoffnung's-chambers (1st floor), Pitt-street, Sydney (three doors from G.P.O.). When writing, describe your hair troubles fully. Open every Friday Night.

A "SUCCESS" STOVE.

THE HOUSEWIVES' FRIEND.

There is undoubtedly an art in good cooking, but all the art of the best of cooks is not of much avail if you use a poor stove.

With a good stove like the "Success" No. 1, you need not be a first-class cook to make tasty, tempting dishes. The "Success" Stove is indeed a most desirable one, as it is a splendid cooker, requires no building in, gives a remarkably strong and even heat, and burns 25 per cent. less fuel than other makes.

The price—27/6—is exceptionally low for such an excellent stove. Special firebox for wood fuel costs 2/6 extra. Inspect it at our showrooms to-day, or write for free illustrated catalogue.

LACE NEWS from OUR SYDNEY BUYER IN EUROPE.

Hotel Du Baviere,
Rue Richer,
PARIS,
24/2/14.

Mr. GRACE,
Dear Sir,—
During the past week I have been down in the Haute Loire district, looking for Real Cluny Laces. I wanted to buy something exclusive if possible, as I think that this Lace will be largely used for Dress Trimming. I have already seen several Models in some of the Parisian and London houses trimmed with Real Hand-made Cluny, and I am pleased to say that after a little trouble I have secured some beautiful designs in all widths of Real Cluny. These goods, together with the Real Irish Crochet, should be very useful next season in Sydney.
I leave here for Brussels to-morrow.
Yours faithfully,
B. J. WARRENER.
P.S.—At the Louvre, Bon Marche, and Galeries La Fayette, Lace Flouncings were being shown extensively.

The Real Laces mentioned in this letter are on show in our No. 1 and 4 BROADWAY WINDOWS.

BALL AND WELCH, LTD.,
SPRING SHOW
NOW BEING HELD.

BLOUSE MODES.
The Blouse of this season is a glorified garment in all respects, and for the time being we appear to have bidden (let us hope) a temporary farewell to the erstwhile smart shirt waist which has been the mainstay of our wardrobes for so long. The choice offering is practically an unlimited one, but every individual model has been created with a view of emphasising a soft, clinging, effect, and the utility blouse of the moment, that meant for wear with a tailored skirt or suit shows a deep open V neck, with or without a roll collar. Amongst attractive modes imported by BALL AND WELCH, special attention centres on a charming matinee waist built of bleu du roi ninon over white. A gouve is simulated with gold military embroideries, and the long sleeves and neck are finished with ivory shadow lace. Smart touches embrace a gold braid necklet and a corsage fastening of amber ornaments of Chinese design.
A dinner blouse of an effective character is of white ninon over slip of ivory Brussels net. The under blouse is vertically banded with nasturtium moire ribbon, small bows of the same ornamenting the plastron of kilted net. Crepe de chine commands a legion of devotees, and the blouses fashioned of it cover a tremendous range of styles.
An original mode, and very dressy, is expressed in forget-me-not blue. French veining supplying a quiet trimming note and in excellent taste. Accordion-pleated kiltings, supplemented by malines, and original white wooden buttons complete the scheme, and for smart occasions such a blouse would prove ideal.
Even amongst the everyday varieties there is not the slightest pretensions to simplicity, so we see elaborate modes in cotton voile beautifully embroidered, Jap. silk and crepe, hemstitched or fagotted, innumerable styles in muslin, on which every conceivable device for ornamentation has been employed; and last, and by no means least, there is the pretty Raglan of cotton voile with pique collar and cuffs. This latter is the nearest approach to the utility specimen we shall have, so maybe, after all, its charms outweigh the severer styles whose absence we are inclined to mourn.

CLOAKS AND WRAPS.
The Queen of Roumania, an eminently sensible woman, expressed the opinion not so long ago that "woman is the mysterious part of creation." Therefore, she should always cultivate something of mystery, keeping her body covered and her surroundings reserved." And this is what we are endeavouring to do this season, if one must judge from the cloaks and wraps in which we shall envelop ourselves. To be ultra smart, a coat—cloak must be built in such a way that it conveys a sense of mystery, and it is de rigueur for the street, and for afternoon or reception wear. Vienna and Paris have contributed and models which BALL AND WELCH are showing, and black would seem to be an obsession with the designers. Silk poplin, velours, and taffetas are the smartest fabrics, and the style favours as nearly as possible the old-fashioned dolmen of many years back. Yet each style has its own distinctive cut, and fussiness runs to double box-pleated ruches, silk military braid laid on with a flare, waterfalls of lace, pinked out taffetas, frills, shirred bands, and rouleaux motifs. Seldom is a colour introduced except in the way of lining, and then ninon, filmy and delightful, may be as primitive in hues as the wearer cares.
A little butterfly wrap of old gold, French brocade, lined with white crepe, is especially charming, and at a race meeting could successfully challenge the most captious critic. For evening wraps brocade is still in favour, and the pig top and bournouse now share favour with a coat which is cut on kimona lines. A Viennese model in coral pink brocade, and lined with oyster white, expresses this new phase, and its full beauties should not be hidden at a theatre. Another French conceit is built of wallflower velours, a charming idea being the introduction of petunia satin for pipings and buttons. It is fashioned on the popular Raglan lines, and is one of the newest of many new notions.

LINGERIE.
Subtle and distinctive is the newest lingerie. The summer robe requiring something more substantial and longer than a Tango skirt, the demand is met by exquisite slips of finest French lawn or muslin lightly touched with valenciennes or cluny, and hand-embroidered. The stitchery in relief patterns renders them works of art, and in the main the delicate beauty of these little garments is unspoilt by any colour. Where a beading is used, white satin ribbon is threaded, and a variation of the ordinary bow is found in hand-made flowers, the rose, dahlia, and daisy being most successful. Another new petticoat which BALL AND WELCH'S show, and which expresses the Parisienne's love of delicate finery, is built of cobwebby muslin with shaped flounces of lace in hand embroideries cunningly joined and inlet further with medallions. It conforms to the new style of frock, and should prove a popular model.
Camisoles are also original, and for their fashioning net and ninon, valenciennes and hand-tucked are used in a variety of pretty ways. They are cut on fuller lines than heretofore, and satin ribbon shoulder straps are substituted for those of more substantial make.

CORSETRY.
Comment on these is almost superfluous, for the mondaine has long since recognised that corset fashions are even more important than dress modes, special corsetry, however, is needed for this season, and BALL AND WELCH are exhibiting a number of new models which are a distinct departure, and which ensure that contour so greatly desired by women. Extreme low bust and extreme long skirt have been the aim of the couturiers, and, before all, a woman must be "fashioned ever so slenderly." To secure the svelte graceful figure, pliable yielding fabrics are employed, and all effort is concentrated on the moulding. In a word, the corset of the moment represents artistic simplicity, and by securing the correct model, on which subject this firm's corset expert will give advice, women may count on that "uncorseted" appearance which is indispensable.
